are unwilling to reduce profit margins for the sake of expedience.
after all, it would take a great expense to re-tool vs. buying from an entity that already produces the product and marking up the shit out of it.

Kim.I actually had this thought once before but then reading some of these posts reminded of that thought.

the thought is this.....

have debate shows on TV influenced the way ordinary people like us talk about our views on things? on those shows you get like 4 minutes total for all sides to voice their opinion. when the issues are big and important you often get very opinionated people who are practically yelling at each other and not being very personable. let's face it.... if somebody makes some outlandish comment or calls somebody a name, its good for ratings and make more "news".

where are we gonna be in 20 years if we can't talk about government without hating each other and cussing people out?

and the American Government now have learned something for the future, that the infrastructure and weather in a country have more importance than all wars for riches and oil, just to take care of the ultra high standards of living in some places in the world like America and have will to do something with it.

I saw a documentation program yesterday in Norwegian TV that showed up how USA now are trying to take control over the oil from WestAfrica, just to see that China are trying the same thing. China needs the oil to start up all their big "wheels" and USA needs the oil to get their "old wheels" spin some rounds more. It was not good to see for the Kyoto deal and for the future of the earth at all.

about matters so obviously important, it means that the rest of us, like the people left stranded in New Orleans, are in deep, deep trouble. My buddy Swen just formatted his audio drives (Win XP) NTFS.

Is this okay? We always used FAT32 till now, but he had trouble doing that this time, so...

Also, what's the best name in drives these days?

this project and even my tube gear is dead quiet.....so I'm almost positive this is cumulative dither noise. Fading the tracks takes care of it and the final stage of the process is yet another dither.

Rather than thinking it unpleasant, I'm actually liking the sound of this, though it certainly isn't digital purity by any stretch.

I need to play around with this some more though. This is a small project.....15 tracks tops. I don't know how this would sound in a project with 40 + tracks. Might be a problem.

Hmmmm.....Hmmmm.....don't know the answer to that one.

>Hey My Blue eyed Soul brother!

Thanks for thoughts and prayers.

SD is as sunny as ever.

Did your band go to Austin with you?

I'd love to hear what you've been doing lately.

You know I'm a fan of your singing. all the best.

Thinking of going down the same road, especially for the ease of editing drums etc. Most of my projects are in the 40-80 track range. That's why I wonderd about setting cubase to do processing at a lower bit rate rate to avoid quantization noise.

I'm still at SX 1.06....haven't made the jump to sx 3 yet, so I'm not sure what it can do. I only use cubase for sequencing and vsti's so far. Keep forging ahead, oh bleeding edge techno guru..better you than me. 80P rod
