New song, just tracked and mixed in Paris. I wrote this one for my oldest daughter's funeral, so it's a special song for me, and a sad one. Paris sounds fantastic, and I tracked it on my Yamaha C3, and my old analog Hammond Organ, with a Cajon for the Low end, and brushes on snare.

Looks like you have to "copy" the link, then "paste" it in the YouTube search window. Sorry. I will try to figure out an easier way

Wow. That was beautiful. Well written, well arranged, great piano figure, and a soulful vocal with lyrics that ripped my heart out. I almost never do this but I had my wife listen to this too. We both started to tear up.

Thanks Wayne! I need to come see your place some day, I live a couple hours away in Utah, and am in Vegas frequently.

Yeah John, we can definitely do this. After the new year settles in, visit my website for my business email. Send me a note and then we'll go private for arrangements.

Have a great holiday and God bless.

John - everything is done so well. The recording, the mixing/mastering and the performance.

And then there's the fact that you wrote this for your daughter. I can't imagine.

I am forwarding the link to another musician friend whose daughter was killed tragically in a car accident on Oct 15.

Bless you and yours.

Ted

John,

Thank you for sharing. Beautiful.
