I think I have to nominate "Cool Hand Luke" as one of the top 10 greatest flicks of all time...superlative writing, exceptional acting on everyone's part, some of the best music ever put to film, no special effects - just great a great plot played out by great actors...

Loved it!

Another good one in the same vein, "One Flew Over the Cuckoos Nest".

On any given day those two have a good shot at my top ten list.

I recently watched Chinatown again, that's another strong contender.

Cheers,

Speaking of movies, it should be mentioned that today is the 30th anniversary of the release of Star Wars.

I saw that...made me feel old(er), as it seems like just yesterday I went to the drive in to see tht flick...

Yes, a real (reel?) drive in...

Yes, a very good movie. Not as good as spider man three mind you, but still worthwhile. I remember dissecting this movie in class when I was 19. Great conversation about flawed heros. Some days I wake up looking for the bandage on my nose.

Oddly enough, my first glimpse of that movie that significantly impacted my life was also a drive-in. My aunt took a bunch of us to see Star Wars - I hadn't really seen any sci-fi prior to that - and it changed my life.

I'm firing up the dvd with the original, un-fucked-with, as God Intended theatrical version after dinner.

One of the significant differences between Star Wars and most all other sci-fi is that it took place in the past instead of the future.

I love movies, so this could change from day to day, but today here are a few at the top of my list:

Unforgiven

American Beauty

The Shawshank Redemption

A Hard Day's Night (changed my life)

The Exorcist

Fargo

Blue Velvet

Tombstone

It's A Wonderful Life

Schindler's List
Fantasia (1940)
The Godfather

Aaa, it's hopeless . . . I could go on and on. :)

.....what about such classics as Reservoir Dogs, Pulp Fiction,
Boogie Nights, The Fearless Vampire Killers, Rocky Horror Picture Show
.....let's do the time warp again.

Well, yeah, like I said, I could go on and on. Though I have to say, reluctantly, that I never liked "Rocky Horror." Not my cup o' tea. And I never saw the Vampire one. The basic premise of vampires just always seemed more silly than scary to me, so if it has "vampire" in the title, I probably haven't seen it.

Ahhh, we all like different films for different reasons. Personally, for life changers, movies don't do much for me. Me, I gotta laugh.... Give me The Jerk, Without A Paddle, Amazon Women On The Moon, any Pink Panther, Naked Gun, Zoolander, Superstar, Rocketman, The Reluctant Astronaut, Young Frankenstein, Spinal Tap, Mr. Deeds, The Out of Towners, It's a Mad Mad Mad Mad World, Cat Ballou, Pet Detective, Planes Trains and Automobiles, Trading Places, The Russians Are Coming, Waiting For Guffman, Best in Show, A Christmas Story (who could evr forget that lamp).

Don't shoot your eye out,
