I was just pondering renaming the groups. We seem to have two active groups now, so I was thinking...

(*) Rename the main group to Music Technology - EMUEnsoniqPARIS

(*) Rename the "General" group to "Paris Social Club - EMUEnsoniqPARIS"

....or something like that.

Or not. What do you guys think? Might help ensure that we stay on music stuff on the main group, as well as encourage some more general social chit chat on the other group.

That was my thinking anyhow.

Cheers,
Kim.

Cheers,
Kim.

The average daily posts now have to be down below 20. The only reason I still look at the page is that I have it set up as a sort of RSS feed at work so I can respond really easily. I can just delete it and leave y'all alone as I'm not likely to EVER say anything on topic save the odd computer fix that Chris Ludwig probably can do better than I can.

That's an ok idea by me. Might add a video title into the Music Tech group though since some of us here are involved in that as well. Maybe something like A/V Technology. That should cover/cater to all DAWs since so many are A/V production tools now.

While we are talking about the group...

I sure would like to see us go to vbulletin...

<http://www.vbulletin.com/>

Yes, I am willing to contribute to it. You have to register, and the admin can publish guidelines. Moderating is relatively easy, with points assigned for various infractions and the app automatically suspending someone who hits the limit for a predetermined time.

We would need some folks to help moderate, but I think it would be well worth it to keep us on-topic and stop some of this drive-by shooting.. errr, posting.

Hey DC -

Have a look at these options and see if they do it for you. They have the advantage of being free (which is a good thing because some things may be coming up on the horizon that PARIS users just might want to cough reserve their cash for), feature pretty rich feature sets, good access control including moderation, and one-click installation.

PHPBB: <http://www.phpbb.com/>

PunBB: <http://punbb.informer.com/>
bbPress: <http://bbpress.org/>

Here's a feature that could be added easily if people were interested in reviving the old chats:

PhpFreeChat <http://www.phpfreechat.net/>

The resources nowadays are going nuts. Free on my server is Drupal, Wordpress, Joomla, photogalleries, chats, forums, calendar, webmail servers, survey tools and a ton of other things, none of which require a particularly high degree of tech savvy or maintenance.

Man, those do look fantastic.

What has always held us back has been NNTP with a web client attached. Lots of users here still use NNTP.

It is also possible to reconfigure how the web interface here works to an extent.

I'd love more features on the web side though. Indeed I'd be really happy if we were hosted in more than one place, but it's linking the two together which is the issue. Indeed if other options were around which support both NNTP and web then we could even have two servers running, as they could use NNTP to hang off each other.

Cheers,
Kim.

At a glance it's perfect. I'd have to spend a few minutes reading up, but I'm assuming that you'd be able to choose an NNTP server which wasn't actually part of Usenet. We're effectively our own mini-usenet, but I can't see why it wouldn't be possible to run that thing, and hang it off this server, which would give us:

(*) Two web interfaces & two NNTP servers

(*) Redundancy

Or I could update here really, but I'm loathed to touch the thing given it seems to just keep working.

Which reminds me, I'd best go run a backup. :o)

Cheers,
Kim.

I think what Kim is talking about is to have both so those that prefer the NG can post to the NG, those that prefer web-based can post to the BB, and posts to either show up in both - rather like what exists now, but far more refined and structured and feature-enriched on the web end.

There's technology that could make that a possibility now. That could be the best of both worlds, to my way of thinking.

Subject: Re: Thoughts on mirrored servers...?
Posted by Kim on Sat, 03 May 2008 05:11:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'd ideally like to see the current setup stay, but with additions. I'm not adverse to alternatives, and a wider Paris community that's not simply revolving around this single portal. There's heaps of websites dedicated to C64. I don't think we can probably generate loads more chat simply from better technology, but there has long been talk that the web interface isn't a fave with some. The main thing holding back change has been:

(*) Many prefer NNTP, which I understand and appreciate, and there are few options which do both NNTP and web.

(*) Some prefer this interface.

If we can find an app which has a better web gui but also NNTP support and is free, we can hang it off this group. People can continue to use this portal if they wish, via either web or NNTP, while some could hang off the mirror site, via either the new web gui or NNTP. Posts would transfer automatically between the two and, depending upon the configuration, probably could be up on both groups seconds after the post was made. Hence we'd have everything we currently have, as well as a new web GUI and a second server offsite. If a server goes down you simply use the other URL. Indeed we could set it up so that there are multiple IP resolutions on the group URL and hence your machine would switch servers automatically if one server went offline.

Indeed you could even do that with the web interfaces. You'd have two URL's, one for each, but if the IP couldn't be resolved it would just point you at the other server. Hence NNTP users wouldn't even know if a BOX went down, and web users would simply be automatically switched to their non-preferred web GUI if their preferred GUI went offline.

(*) No Interruption of service

(*) Complete backup of posts if either server goes down

() Two web and two NNTP hosts to choose from () Automatic transfer of posts between all access points within seconds.

This is all if we can find the right software, but the stuff we're currently running can do most of this on its own so long as we find something which has both a better web gui as well as NNTP support.

Then we simply need a host. There are options. We could rent a machine somewhere which is maintained, as that can be cheapish. Or somebody, perhaps Kerry, might have access to a host machine. Also, I have a backup machine here already which could be reloaded with different software and possibly do all we're looking at here, but we'd still only have a single internet connection.

But this thread, in fact, was started to talk about simply changing the titles on some of the group headings to better represent their usage so that people know what to expect and where to go for tech support if that's all they want.

Cheers,

Kim.

If I was really any good...I wouldn't have time to post here Group.

i know it seems a bit long but...MUSIC BITCHES might draw some criticism.

Change is inevitable

Yet I still hate change

Must be getting old
