1. We admitted we were powerless over multiple DAWs and that our lives had become unmanageable.
2. Came to believe that a Power greater than Paris could restore us to sanity.
3. Made a decision to turn our MECs away and give our lives over to the a new DAW Cubase 4.

4. Made a searching and fearless moral inventory of ridiculous hardware inventory I had accumulated.

5. Admitted to the Paris group, to ourselves, and to another human being (DJ's wife) the exact nature of our insane purchases.

6. Were entirely ready to have Cubase remove all these defects of Paris.

7. Humbly asked Cubase to remove our shortcomings.

8. Made a list of all projects we had harmed, and became willing to make amends to them all.

9. Made direct amends to such projects wherever possible, except when to do so would introduce dither or jitter.

10. Continued to take personal inventory and when we were wrong promptly sell more shit.

11. Sought through prayer and meditation to improve our conscious contact with Cubase by reading the manual.

12. Having had a spiritual awakening as the result of Cubase 4, we tried to carry this message to other Parisites, and to practice these principles in all our jam sessions.

Drink up !!!

Uh . . . yeah . . . I'm don't think I'm ready to quit yet. I'm still functional. Nobody at work knows I use PARIS, and I don't use it THAT much. I use it because I like it, it's not really a problem. Besides, I can quit any time I want to. :)
