A friend of mine just called. This guy modifies vehicles for offroad use and for running on biofuels (he has a Humvee that runs of use fry oil from one of his wife partners' restaurants here).

<http://www.avalancheengineering.com/>

He's flying, all expenses paid to the UAE to have tea on Thursday with some shiekh who saw his website.

I wanna' go cause it's warm.

Sheesh! I hope he comes back! :oS

Last I heard there were a lot of rumours that people who make successful alternate energy sources go mysteriously missing. :oS There were a lot of other rumours that the reason that there are only rumours of this is that everybody who knows anything also goes missing.

Probably just another conspiracy theory, and I'm sure he'll be fine, but I can't see why somebody who presumably sells crude oil particularly needs to talk to a dude who converts for biofuels. Just seems odd.

Am I missing something?

Cheers,
Kim.

Exactly my first thought too. Maybe we've seen too many episodes of "24" and "Die Hard".

The UAE are buying their way out of oil dependency one oil earned dollar at a time. The investment arm of the Dubai government bought Barney's NY a couple of months ago for hecks sake.

and keep in mind that there have probably been more fast food joints built there than new oil wells lately... oil, oil, it's just another kind of oil...
