Blizzard watch here on the front range/El Paso county area.
Snowing now, but not as much accumulated yet.

It's interesting now being in southern CA now for two months after a decade in Alaska. It was -15 in Anchorage when we got on the plane, mid 80's when we got off a few hours later.

<SMILE> I used to laugh at your whiney posts about snow. Now my heart goes out to you.

Peace - Don

Strange white fluffy flake-like units are accumulating into large masses of what resembles cake frosting -as I write this. I don't know what to make of it, but the wife is grabbing the shot gun. The stuff seems to be almost crawling up the house AND as I squit out the window the whole neighborhood looks to be overcome.....
