Thanks!

MarkBTW - I'm located near Austin, Tx for any folks nearby - thanksHey guys,

I have it on good authority that the new UAD-2 cards are going to be on the market soon. I'm going to pick up one of their PCIe cards. If it works as I hope, I'm going to have a 13 slot Magma with 4 x perfectly working UAD-1 PCI cards here. This is the newer version with the round SCSI style cable that will accept the new PCIe host card if you're running Paris on a mobo with PCIe slots. I have tested it with this PCIe host card and I will guarantee that it works. This should allow you to move your EDS compatibility to the next generation of mobo's. This chassis allows 3 x different dusses running on 3 different IRQ's. I have had 2 x PC POCO PCI cards and 4 x
