
Subject: Island Music

Posted by geo on Sun, 27 Jan 2008 18:36:34 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I saw some folks here like the reggae. I have some tunes posted at the site all done here in Paris, that may interest you. One mix, Dry Conch and Grits appeared on Globe Trekker. These guys are from the Turks and Caicos and record here in Wisconsin...long story...but when they asked me to go to the horse barn and get a rip saw I realized I was in deep engineering waters. Tracked the saw with a pair of QTC 1's on a Jecklin disk so as the player moved about so does the image...very strange. (Salt Cay)
These tunes are up for test purposes and will be removed in the next week or so. Synth horns, real Hammond and back vox. Enjoy.

geo--

www.extrafishrec.com

Subject: Re: Island Music

Posted by [John \[1\]](#) on Sun, 27 Jan 2008 20:26:09 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

very nice. thanks for sharing. great vibe there

Subject: Re: Island Music

Posted by Neil on Sun, 27 Jan 2008 22:01:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That is some pretty cool stuff... great recordings!

Makes me wanna "elbow-dance" lol

Neil

"geo" <nlyn@execpc.com> wrote:

>I saw some folks here like the reggae. I have some tunes posted at the site >all done here in Paris, that may interest you. One mix, Dry Conch and Grits >appeared on Globe Trekker. These guys are from the Turks and Caicos and >record here in Wisconsin...long story...but when they asked me to go to the >horse barn and get a rip saw I realized I was in deep engineering waters.
>Tracked the saw with a pair of QTC 1's on a Jecklin disk so as the player >moved about so does the image...very strange. (Salt Cay)
>These tunes are up for test purposes and will be removed in the next week or >so. Synth horns, real Hammond and back vox. Enjoy.

>

>geo--

>www.extrafishrec.com

>

>
