
Subject: What are the firewire drives that are reliable right now for you?

I was looking for a post a while back that a number of people mentioned a certain drive that I think had the Oxford 911 thingy in it. There was also a link to a seller, but I can't seem to find it. If anyone knows what I'm talking about could you post it.

Any other drives that are performing well?

I'm hearing Seagate might not be the way to go right now.

TIA,
Pete
