

---

Subject: How was dinner?

Posted by TCB on Mon, 08 Oct 2007 19:29:57 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I wound up stuck in the office until late on Friday and missed the PARIS AES dinner. How did it turn out? Any really new stuff at the show that a synthy guy like me can't live without?

TCB

---

---

Subject: Re: How was dinner?

Posted by Paul Artola on Mon, 08 Oct 2007 21:33:27 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Well, from my perspective, the dinner was excellent. The sangria was yummy and the DJ paella tasted great. The restaurant did a great job accommodating us, and the giant roach was friendly and entertaining.

Of course, the company was beyond comparison. I'm not sure if there were more of us Paris users or not present, but that really didn't matter. The conversation was plenty lively and covered a lot of bases.

Sorry you missed the fun, Thad. I can understand being stuck at work. Hope you made it to the show on another day.

- Paul Artola
Ellicott City, Maryland

On 9 Oct 2007 05:29:57 +1000, "TCB" <nobody@ishere.com> wrote:

>

>I wound up stuck in the office until late on Friday and missed the PARIS AES >dinner. How did it turn out? Any really new stuff at the show that a synthy >guy like me can't live without?

>

>TCB

---

---

Subject: Re: How was dinner?

Posted by [Gene Lennon\[4\]](#) on Tue, 09 Oct 2007 03:33:07 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Best of AES:
Paris Dinner
Bricasti M7
Neve Genesys

Lexicon PCM 96
Everything at Vintage King Audio
Nuendo 4 / Euphonix combo
Fairlight Xynergi
LaChapell mic pres
Lots of 500 thingies
Hanging out with some jazz friends Sat night

Gene

"TCB" <nobody@ishere.com> wrote:

>

>I wound up stuck in the office until late on Friday and missed the PARIS
AES

>dinner. How did it turn out? Any really new stuff at the show that a synthy >guy like me can't live without?

>

>TCB

---