
Subject: You can run
Posted by coachz on Sat, 26 Sep 2009 09:36:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hey guys, this is the original John. Long time. I didn't know the server moved !! So....I found you finally ! How's everything going? Nice to find you guys here.

John Bercik
www.kfocus.com/paris

or for rick who likes to watch the doggies

www.kfocus.com/dogland

Subject: Re: You can run
Posted by rick on Sun, 27 Sep 2009 09:37:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

that's what a pic of the old paris general forum would look like during a discussion on politics or religion.

hey big fellah how ya doin. shoot me an email parnell68@hotmail.com

Subject: Re: You can run
Posted by kerryg on Mon, 28 Sep 2009 17:57:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Heya John, welcome back! Still linking to you at the top of the page - your site is still one of the most valuable go-to resources for PARIS.

The NG server didn't move - this forum and the NG were separate but allied, and had different focuses (Kim kept the traditional/open-topic/unmoderated NG running, and the forums tackled things from a more platform-specific focus). They were designed from the git-go to co-exist in ongoing sync via php script. It worked well for a while (multi-month tech nightmare getting there of course). But eventually Kim closed the NG down in order to go on a sort of extended sabbatical in Europe.

There was some talk about folks creating a successor to the NG; the response was muted at the time, but one never knows - I don't even entirely rule out the possibility that Kim might return from Europe at some point in the future, get unpacked and settled in, flip a switch and start up the old NG again as suddenly as it left.

Nice dogs!
