I've been referred to networksolutions.com, but they seem a little pricey once you get out of the bargain basement services.

what are some other options that y'all are happy with?

Thanks, Dale

I use these guys:

<http://www.cscweb.net>

Reasonably-priced, and I've never noticed an outage of any kind.

I take care of two non-profit sites on:
<http://www.oneworldhosting.com/>
No complaints.

Here's who I use.

www.globat.com

No problems.

Wow - we agree :-) 1&1 is a MS platinum partner and one of the top hosters out there for reliability and security. One small problem is that they won't host any unmanaged .Net code, so you can't use OLEDB database connections, but that probably isn't an issue for you :-)

Surpass Hosting. Best I've used in 10 years. Inexpensive and incredibly reliable/responsive.

Best of luck!
