What is your take on the lack of a real video of this execution. I'm really wondering if this happened at all. They didn't do it in public where lots of people could have filmed it. I know, it was for security reasons, but the video released is meaningless. Even the black and white picture of him "dead" is the worst quality I have EVER seen.

Did they take it with a fisher price camera.

I mean with all the digital technology even if they showed a video of him being hanged in private in high def I still wouldn't believe it though. Video editing is too good. The only way I would believe it is if it was done in public with lots of cameras taking video from multiple people. What do you guys really think about this amazingly crappy video?

Plus, he would be great in ZZTop !

John
