I thought this was funny. Two of the voice commands Windows vista accepts are "Start Listening" and "Stop listening".

If it wasn't listening, how would it hear you say Start Listening?

Tree falls in the woods anyone ?:-)

You beat me to it Rick. The scene in "The Search For Spock" Star Trek movie where Scotty is trying to talk to the 1984 Mac. The guy tells him to use the mouse, so he picks it up like a microphone and says "Computer?". Then the guy says "just use the keyboard". Scotty: "How quaint". Then he proceeds to type about 500 strokes per minute as charts, graphs, and CAD drawings fly across the screen. Funny stuff.

Sorry, the movie was "The Voyage Home" in 1986. I don't deserve to call myself a Trekkie! What a disgrace! ;>) or... if a man makes a statement, and a woman is not around to hear it, is he still wrong?

is that a question or a declarative? we don't need no stinkin' women to be wrong.

Every good marriage is made up of two people:

1. The one who is right all the time.
2. The husband.

I often think of that scene when working at the keyboard myself.

"A keyboard.....how quaint"

"transparent aluminum... thats the ticket laddy"

"NOT NOW MADELINE!!!"

(Paraphrasing)

McCoy: You do realize you're changing history by giving him this information.?

Scotty: Why? How do we know he didn't invent the thing?

Tony

Scotty: Captain. There be whales here.

So many good quotes in that one!
