OK, so I need a couple of firewire cards for audio machines.

Which ones are inexpensive and have the TI chips?

Thanks.

HI Paul,

ADS technologies make a PCI one that works well and is cheap.
Siig make 400 and 800 models in both PCI and PCI-e that work well.
One thing to avoid even if TI is combo cards that have both 400/800 or 400 USB etc. They can be trouble.

Guys, skip on the SIIG from Newegg:

We regret to inform you that your recent Newegg.com Sales Order has been cancelled due to insufficient inventory.

It was discovered that the quantities for one or more items reserved to fulfill this order were either found to be damaged, misplaced, or only partially available.

If your payment has already been processed, you will be refunded the full amount of this order in approximately 2 to 3 business days.
We apologize for any inconvenience this may have caused, and thank you for your patience and understanding.
