Got 3 gig of ram installed in the Cubase/vsti comp as per DJ's advice for Ivory (that's the most my mobo will take). All I can say is WOW! The Steiny with all the voices is the ticket. No glitches whatsoever. Thanks DeeJ!

Sso more than a Gig of RAM makes a difference? I've heard that more than a Gig makes no difference in WindowsXP.. not true, after all?

The Ivory VST has many voices available (I think 64 is default and 160 or something is max-don't quote me though). the more RAM it has to stretch out and wallow around in, the happier it is.

Welcome Rod. This thing is one of the most killer audio tools since Paris IMHO. It really is like having a grand piano available (well three actually, though like you, I tend to gravitate toward the Steiny D) and you don't have to spend $20k for the mics to fully capture it.

;o)

Now I just need a good controller to do it justice.

Ivory may be able to use it but I would be curious what your actual RAM usage is when running Ivory, and if you are using the /3G switch to access above 2G, or if it just stabilizes Win/Cubase when using over 1.2G.

WinXP limits apps to 1.2G. With 2G, supposedly the /3G switch also bumps the 2G usage to 1.7G for apps, and of course is supposed to open up 3G usage. Nuendo has issues above 1.2G that cause instability, corrupt projects, etc, though there is an error handler in Nuendo now (I assume Cubase too) that usually allows you to save your project to a new file if it detects this problem. It is an annoyance, and can be problematic with large sample libraries (orchestral here, using NI's DSD, so it may not be as much of an issue with piano libraries - single instrument, different streaming technique, etc).

Dedric

Check out the Studiologic VMK188 or VMK176 - got great reviews for pianistic action. I haven't tried it, but am hoping it lives up to expectations. The price is reasonable too.

Ivory is also great on my PowerMac dual G5, currently with 2.5GB RAM (out of a possible 8GB).

Rod,

Run don't walk to the web or a local store where they are blowing out yamaha
P-60 consumer digital pianos.

The action hand's down blows away every controller I have ever played, including my Yamaha acoustic. They are being blown out for under $600 bucks. Yes it has build in sounds and speakers, but nobody will make you use them :-)

Well thanks for that tip also. I wouldn't have thought of that.
