As ID is no longer going to support Paris in any way shape or form in the very near future I feel it's time to let everyone know that there is a pace free version out there that I know works perfectly...PM me if you would like to know more about it.

Just a quick heads up to anyone still interested

It has been confirmed that the Pace free version works with Windows 7 - 32 & 64 bit

Still interested.

What do you guys use for PCI slots on more modern computers? Newer computers don't have many (or any) of the older format PCI slots that EDS cards use, correct?

Hi Richard,

I'm using the virtua via expansion chassis.

<http://www.virtuavia.eu/shop/pcie-4-x-pci-expansion-atx-kit.html>

It's been serving me very well and will become even more important when PCI slots on motherboards are a thing of the past.

Magma as makes a similar product, but it is more expensive.

All the best,

Mike

Hooray!
I've been using it for years, due to the fact that I change hardware frequently.
If anyone from ID is lurking, I paid for my upgrade when it first came out. However, I know a bit about PC's, and frequently upgrade my hardware and O/S.

I have no idea myself, but since whatever the ethical and practical considerations are it's not legal in some jurisdictions, I'd prefer if discussion of this went on by private message. I don't want wake up and find our forum shut down.
