The words "Upgrade" and "Paris" in the same sentence sound so freekin cool but let's be realistic, ah... don't think so. But that's not to say that we can't get the old bird off the ground with Mike's awesome XP driver. I have a empty partition in the old P4 box, I must give it a shot, ya never know.

Has anyone tried it yet?

As of the last time Mike and I spoke he guessed it wouldn't a problem to adapt his new drivers to Windows 7. I would guess that it will all depend on what Mike discovers when he gets 7 installed. I know finishing the ASIO drivers is still the first priority though.

Mike would never ask me to say something like this, but because he's such a huge asset to the community I'm going to go ahead and say it: obviously the more people buy Mike's existing drivers the more incentive he's gonna have to write new ones, so "buy until it hurts!"
