I'll install the new UPS 10AM tomorrow morning my time, which is 0:00 GMT to make it easy for everyone.

That's 14.5 hours from the time on this post.

Should only take 15 minutes or so I imagine...

Cheers,
Kim.

Yeh all done. Gee you were quick off the rank to get on board once the server was back up. ;o)

Should be good now. AND I was reading the specs on the side of the UPS box... looks like we might get more like 1.5 hours or more out of this unit I suspect.

All good. :o)

Cheers,
Kim.

Hehe! What the?!? How'd you get that? ;o)

You'll need to put 613 in front of it to get here from your parts.

Give me a call if you like. :o)

Cheers,
Kim.

Like you said, now when I read your posts they have the right voice. :o)

Up until now your text sounded Australian. ;o)

Cheers,

Up till now, your posts have all sounded like Steve Irwin... now they sound like Steve with the VSO set to -15%! ;-)

Crickey!

VSO? Vancouver Symphony Orchestra? ;o)

I should have made a point of including some more outlandish Australianisms.
Maybe thrown in the odd "Crickey" for flavour. A few "Strewth"s. The odd "Stone the crows!". ;o)

Cheers,
Kim.

Ah, so at a lower pitch. ;o) Hehe, fair enough. Though after a few beers you'd probably find the VSO would only be -5% or so. ;o)

Cheers,
Kim.
