I'm getting Crashbasket fitted for an articulated stifle brace.

These guys are in Denver. I'll probably arrive Thursday night, get his leg casted on Friday, they will build the brace Saturday, he will get fitted and adjustments Sunday and we will and leave Monday.

I'm probably going to be pretty hotel bound in the meantime since he's not going to be extremely mobile, but I'm thinking about renting a minivan so that he will have plenty of room and if it's not too cold, we could probably grab a bite while he hangs in the van or something. He's short haired so I can't leave him in the cold for too long.
