Hello Yasser,

No snobbing going on - stuff just gets overlooked sometimes. It's certainly happened to me as well.

As far as your C16 problem - that's not a common "fix it" type problem, so most people really wouldn't know what to tell you. I've had issues with the cable getting yanked a bit in the output jack, and causing paris to freak/crash - but once I reset it and reboot, it's fine again. I would definitely try to get your rig up and running without the C16, and then start messing with it.

I have been noticing that you guys DO help eachother and alot.. in the very few times I asked for some help ... I either have gotten rather nothing or someone taking the piss .. rarely have been helped .. although you guys talk , exchange ideas even about subejcts that are not related to Paris... jokes even... so is it my name? which says what background I come from Yeah...I get snubbed all the time here.

It's all part of the PARIS Newsgroup Experience.
:-)

Just Joking.

No, but I think sometimes a lot of us know the answers , but are too lazy to answer something we have already answered 100 times so we overlook it and assume someone else will answer the question.
I might have the record for unanswered questions on here..
I don't think ill will is intended just the people who got the answers are either too busy or not inclined to answer that day and then it goes into the forgotten pile.

All peoples are welcome here so please stay and participate Yasser.

If you are using 4 eds cards and 1 mec and 1 c-16...I would try swapping two of the EDS cards.

The main one with another one and see if the C-16 works in that one.

If not I would think the C-16 is shorted.

I have never taken one apart, but I would take it apart and look for shorts

AFTER I checked the plug connections.

you might want to check the cable connection on the c-16 or the card as i have one that no longer has all the connections...it took me many looks between that one and the others to see the bad one.

as to the snub thing...we've got too many peeps rep'd here for that to be an issue.

No. It is not your name. I have a no-so-common name too but I just pester people here until they get annoyed and talk to me so I will leave them alone ;o). They know that if they ignore me for too long, I will find out where they live and come to visit. I did read your post though. I just had no answer. Perhaps I should have suggested you get a new cable, but I figured you would have tried that before you posted. Every time I have a problem in my life (C-16 doesn't work, car won't start, house burns down, dog has terrible gas, etc.) I can always eventually trace the source of the problem back to a faulty cable.

Regards,

Deej
