2 x Shure 10A's for $10.00 apiece. These things sound quite a bit like an SM57 to my ears and seem to handle very high SPL.. Guess I'll look for the ..pdf and give them a read. I like oth on/off switches. Anyone here familiar with these mics?

I could follow up with all sorts o' crass lewdities, but you and Edna are the only females left on this board, we like you and I don't want to get lynched for runnin' you gals off.....oh wait.....you're a nurse and Edna breeds horses.....I doubt if there's anything I could say that would surprise either of you.

Yeah, never get into a gross out contest with a nurse . . . tends to backfire. Last night I manually released an 87-year-old's impacted bowel, took my gloves off, and went to dinner. :) I'm on a medical unit and I bet there's at least one story I could tell from each shift that would spoil your appetite or retract your testes.

Me and Edna only females left? Didn't I see a Sharon back there a couple days? Or is that the last name, like Ariel Sharon of Israel?

Man!!!...I don't know if I could survive that without tossin my cookies.....honestly. I have known a few nurses in my life and all of them had a fortitude level that amazed me. Actually, my wife does all sorts of minor surgery on our horses and is working herself into a veterinary assistant's position with a good friend of ours here who has a large animal practice. I'm sure she'll start classes at some point and if she decides to go to vet school, I'll support her in that endeavor. she's smart as a whip and she loves this stuff.

I just did a search for Sharon and shure'nuff, Sharon seems to have shown up on the 19th. Welcome to Sharon. More estrogenous life forms are needed here.
