I'm getting ready to plug in the second EDS card. I got the WC cable for the MEC-to-442 connection.

I forgot about the damn ribbon cables.

And it looks like when I bought my second EDS card several years ago, all I got were the two larger cables, not the two smaller ones. I didn't realize there were four internal connections as well.

Looks like I'll be limited to 16 channels tomorrow.

Damn.

Where can I get the small cables?

I'll run over to the local store first thing in the morning. Thanks, Rod.

Shoud I have tried this last week?

Hell, yes.

But when you throw together a last-minute gig, and plans change as you go along, sometimes shit gets missed.

I just hope it all works when I plug everything in....

You can get parts from an electronics store and make them. Really cheap. That's what I did.
