The crocodile hunter just got nailed right through the heart with a sting ray barb. I really enjoyed this guy's antics and I think he did some very good things for wildlife conservation and other animal awareness related issues.

This is really sad.

I actually sent his producers a tune of mine a few years back.

It was an AC/DC sort of thing about how these lazy animals were all derelict at their jobs for not biting this guy more often...

They didn't use it, of course. I'm kind of glad now...

What a character Irwin was. He will be missed.

Yup, this is very sad. He was very entertaining and I liked to watch him in awe as he handled some very scary critters. I really hate it for his wife and kids too. Seems like he would be a great dad.

Vary sad. I have a lot of respect for him, he lived his life with passion and enthusiasm. You'll be missed Steve Irwin, RIP.
