Hey folks,

This is sample of artist in development over at my place.

We're having a great time working on singing /arranging techniques and I'd like to share the results.

We've been working on getting the singer controlling the compression while he sings. There are still problems with some popping and sibilance and we'll be working on that.

I know there are better ways to do what we are doing, but I'm still a novice at this.

I'm honored to have good artists to work with and time is always limited.

Thanks for listening.

Lance
