Hi, I can remember that at one point, some very entrepreneuring Paris users had made an instructional DVD that was for sale on one of the related sites.

At this point in my Paris using career, I really wish that I would have bought one and I'm wondering if this is lying around with anyone who could supply me with a copy. I would be willing to pay a reasonable amount of money for this. For the past few years since I've jumped into this system, it has never ceased to be a challenge to install, upgrade, and use. That probably has more to do with me and my own technological shortcomings than with the system, and I have to say that been more than happy with everything that's come out of it. If anyone knows anyone with any decent experience using Paris in the San Diego area, I'd love to know you and be able to have someone nearby to consort with and use as a knowledge resource. Any and all comments are appreciated.

Thanks,

David
