OK, so I've figured out that I can use my Dell keyboard on a Mac G4 Dual system....
what I can't figure out is what keystrokes to get the CD tray to eject, LOL...

so Mac gurus.. how's that happen w/o the eject key (non-Mac keyboard)? using a mac keyboard isn't really optional as I need, for space reasons, to use a KVM and only one keyboard and mouse. This model Mac has no eject on the computer itself.

Aaron,
If your using OSX,go to the finder under file,you should see eject.
Or you can just drag the icon to the trash and it should eject.

Thanks guys, I'll try this when I get back from vacation for the holiday.

Peace and Joy,
AA

Hey Aaron! You were asking about a Windows keyboard on a Mac. I just tried out a new Microsoft wireless keyboard and F12 does two things. If I tap it quickly, it launches or closes Dashboard, if I press and hold, it will open and close the CD drawer. If I press and hold Alt and F12 It opens and closes the bottom DVD drawer.

I knew that I had done this before, but I couldn't remember how. Anyways, I hope this helps.

They had these on sale a Office Depot with a wireless optical mouse for $20.00. A nice basic keyboard with some multimedia buttons.

Now I just have to figure out how to get the multi media transport buttons to work on my Mac, also the email button. The volume and mute work great.

Yep. I use a Dell usb keyboard on my G4, and F12 works the same as the eject key. You just need to hold it down a little longer.

I can't remember it at the moment, but there is a little app that you install into the control panel that allows you to remap the windows key as the squiggle key, and stuff like that.
