This was a email I received.

Diane Sawyer on ABC news interviewed the Venezuelan leader Chavez just last week -- March 2007 He is so dangerous, and you can tell he is thrilled to be selling oil toAmerica and having a foot on the throat of this country. He is something else. If you did not hear the interview, the following was discussed and it is true. They have all this money coming in and the majority of his own people are living in poverty and he is so rich. He is best of friends with Castro and Russian leaders. He told Diane Sawyer that he was friends with all the world leaders, but President Bush is as dumb as a 'donkey'.

CITGO CHANGING NAME...this is serious Americans...make sure you read ...
NEWS FLASH: Chavez is NOW getting a Russian Weapons Factory built by Putin. The RUSSIANS are building an AK-47 Kalashnikov Assault Rifle factory in Venezuela, to give armament support to Communist Rebel groups throughout the Americas.

Chavez NOW has IRANIANS operating his oil refineries in Venezuela for him. It is likely only a matter of time, if not already, before Chavez has Iranian built LONG RANGE missiles, with a variety of warhead types aimed at: Guess Who?

CITGO is NOW in the process of Changing Its Name to PETRO EXPRESS due to the loss of gasoline sales in the USA due to the recent publicity of ownership by Chavez of Venezuela.

Every dollar you spend with CITGO or PETRO EXPRESS gasoline will be used against you, your basic human rights, and your freedoms. He will start wars here in the Americas that will probably be the death of millions of free people.

THIS IS VERY IMPORTANT because Chavez is starting to feel the loss of revenue from his holdings. HE OWNS CITGO. This is a very important move that everyone should be aware of.

ANNOUNCED JUST RECENTLY, CITGO, BEING AWARE THAT SALES ARE DOWN DUE TO U.S.
CUSTOMERS NOT WANTING TO BUY FROM "CITGO-CHAVEZ", HAVE STARTED TO CHANGE
THE NAME OF SOME OF THEIR STORES TO: "PETRO EXPRESS"
DO NOT BUY FROM "PETRO EXPRESS" EITHER!!! "PETRO EXPRESS" IS ALSO 100% OWNED BY "CHAVEZ."

KEEP THIS MEMO GOING SO THAT EVERYONE KNOWS WHAT IS HAPPENING.

BOYCOTT "CITGO" AND "PETRO EXPRESS".....MAKE SURE THIS IS PASSED ON TO EVERYONE in YOUR E-MAIL LIST IN THE UNITED STATES AND OUTSIDE OF AMERICA.

Hugo Chavez is a hero. A man willing to sand up for his counry and not let a another country (USA) tell him how to run thier commodity.

This is nothing more than tipical US spin machine out to sway puplic opinion about those leaders that don't drink the US Kool-Aid.. They (Venezuelans) don't need our aid. They have their own precious commodity.

Wake up people, are we to believe every word coming from our Goverment??

Thanks God for Citgo..

LaMont, have you ever heard of Communism? Maybe you should read up on what Chavez has been up to lately. Start with the buying of russian Migs, missiles, tanks etc. It's a military build up in our hemisphere. Then the taking of oil refineries by military force.

By the way, In 1995 I purchased a brand new Firebird. About a month after getting the car I got gas at a Citgo station. with in minutes of pulling out, the engine ceased up. Towed it in to a dealer and found out I had bad gas. I had the state of Michigan come out and test the gas. 71% was water, about 8% was solid garbage, and the rest was gas. It took out all of the fuel injectors and the fuel pump. It did about $1700.00 in damage.

Citgo refused to take any responsibility for their product, and refused to pay for the damage. They immediately told me that they were not responsible for their product after it left their refinery. Apparently that was their standard response for anybody that called them about bad gas. It took about 6 months to get it straitened out. The state of Michigan gave them a choice, pay for the damages or pay a $25,000.00 fine. The arab gas station owner had to pay for the damage.

My neighbor later told me that when that gas station would start running out of gas he would see them put the garden hose down in to their tanks. So I guess the owner deserved what he got. There were also many reports on the news of people getting bad gas from Citgo stations all over town.

Needless to say, I never buy gas at Citgo. What a PITA! If you want to buy your gas from them that's up to you.

When possible I will avoid buying Communist made products. And yes I am aware of where some of my favorite products are made. I don't like it.

LaMont, my friend. I think you are misguided here. I respect your opinions, but I wonder if you have ever been up close and personal with a totalitarian state.....socialist or otherwise. I have seen it (Nicaragua during and after Somoza). Before you become enamoured with Somoza, I suggest you take some time off and go to Venezuela while you still can travel without a state tender (if this is even still possible) and spend about a month travelling around down there.

Regards,

DJ

sorry.....I meant Chavez.....

and another thought.....just because Chavez echoes your personal opinions about Bush, does not make him a "liberator". People like Chavez will say whatever they think you want to hear as long as it suits their agenda.....sorta like most American politicians.

America's appetite for oil is our own problem and we can't blame it on other countries. We don't own their oil.

The "foot on the throat" is really "feet on the throat" and the feet belong to OPEC and other oil producers aided by an oil industry that is more and more consolidated, monolithic and multi-national. But the responsibility for putting our throat under those feet is largely our own.

In order to get these footprints off of our throat it's not enough to complain about the governments of other countries, whether they deserve criticism or not. We need to face up to our own responsibilities and do something about:

A) Our own oil consumption.

This is key. However you do it, consider using less petroleum. Drive a more efficient car. Drive less. Go biodiesel (from efficient sources). Go electric. Ride a bike. Take a bus/train. Walk.

This will help make us less dependent on foreign oil, less manipulable by terrorist factions, less susceptible to market manipulations and better able to face the future when oil is harder to come by (oil is not an infinite resource, google "peak oil"). Reducing our consumption will also help relieve our shortage of refining capability, which, for a variety of reasons, we are bumping into pretty hard right now.

Also significant, using less oil will help improve local air quality and pull back on greenhouse gas emissions.

Win, win.

B) Our own Federal Trade Commission.

If you agree with the GAO that industry consolidation is hurting rather than helping the consumer at the pump, then something is wrong over at the FTC. The FTC is our consumer protection watchdog, they oversee and approves mergers and they enforce anti-trust legislation. Is the fox guarding the hen house?

C) Our own government.

We have problems using long term planning to avoid situations where our security is at risk from poor energy policy. This is a failure of leadership by both major parties.

How do we get better leadership? Is it by electing politicians who represent multi-national industries? Or is it by electing politicians who represent their actual constituents?

If you believe in the latter, i.e. "democracy," the election system is broken on several fronts.

First, the increasing amount of money it takes to get elected means that most politicians butter their bread from high money sources, because that's the easy money. K street lobbyists are funneling vast sums of money to both parties in order to push special interest agendas. This results in politicians who are beholden to special interest groups for their jobs. Lobbyists themselves are helping to write new legislation and are even being appointed to government oversight positions.

This will not be easy to reign in. Possible solutions include:

-Using some amount of the public airwaves for elections without charge, to make running for office less costly and thus level the playing field for candidates who don't feed at the lobbyist trough;

-Instant runoff voting so people can vote for their true favorite candidates without fear of throwing their vote away;

-Full disclosure laws for groups doing political advertising (including those doing thinly veiled "issue advertising"), so everyone knows exactly which special interests are behind any disinformation campaign;

-A responsible fourth estate that shines a bright light on ad campaigns, showing the funding sources, revealing their interests, and contrasting any claims with actual facts. We need to balance a special interest group's right to brazenly lie with the public's need to know the facts. :^)

-Campaign finance reform. This is an interesting challenge: how to keep an election from being bought without infringing on "free speech." Free speech is in quotes because there is some controversy about whether restricting campaign donations is the same as restricting actual speech.

Second, the election mechanism itself is suspect. A large percentage of the votes are compiled by computer-based systems that do not keep a physical record of the vote. There is no way of knowing if the electronic vote has been hacked, except that 1) we know electronic voting makes it possible to cheat quickly, undetectably and on a large scale, and 2) we have a clear history of various parties eagerly cheating in elections when possible. Draw your own conclusions.

Even with systems that keep a physical, recountable record, it's important that the ballot of record be the physical representation and not the electronic representation. The physical representation should be counted for the first official tally as well as all recounts. It's exceedingly important that vote tallies are regularly audited using the physical ballots, with a sufficient percentage of precincts audited to be very sure that no cheating falls through the cracks.

On the other side of the equation, no party should be allowed to manipulate the federal system to throw legitimate voters off the rolls or fail to count any legitimate ballot, provisional or direct. Nor should dead people vote.

Cheers,
-Jamie
www.JamieKrutz.com

PS. James, you also raised another issue, that of the arms industry, in which we are a dominant player. I won't go into it here except to note that one of the objections you raise about Venezuela is that they are buying from a competitor.

Misguided is not the term I would have thought of...but whatever.

Funny how no one seems to remember the great failed experiment called socialism (USSR, anyone?) Or better yet, the great failed experiment called facism (Nazi Germany, anyone?)

The irony is stifling that people seem to forget these things on Memorial Day weekend...either grossly insensitive, totally out of touch with reality on this planet, or some combination therein, I would imagine.

If you can read this, thank a teacher - if you can read this in ENGLISH, thank a veteran.

Who is this "no one" to whom you refer?

Don't you think it's a bit condescending to assume people here fit your stereotypes of ignorance. Is that why you flaunt your examples as simplistic sweeping generalizations, did you think people here are slow?

Other than me, that is? ;^)

Jamie...please do not be such a hatefilled spiteful person...you do not know one damn thing about me, nor do you have a right to refer to me as ignorant...

FYI, I am a service connected disabled vet - plainly, I gave up the majority of my mobility in the line of duty, so that others could express themselves as they wish..

Another FYI, I have been met and interacted with those from the former East Germany and the former Czechoslavakia, both socialist satellites...and exactly 100% of those people I met from communist/dictatorships thanked the US for assisting in the enabling of their freedoms...

Sadly, those very people are more grateful for the US than most people living in it today...

And, from me, my father (highly decorated WW2 and Korean War vet), and my brother (Vietnam vet) you are welcome. I stand by my words, I stand by my nation.

Peace.

>>If you can read this, thank a teacher - if you can read this in ENGLISH,thank a veteran.<<

Our brilliant politicians had no will for war, it took the Japanese attacking us to get us involved. They wanted to just stand by and watch the world be taken over. WE need to thank the veterans for having the will to fight and win WWII. left to the pacifists we'd all be speaking German, or maybe Russian

As far as the veterans that fought England, they had the will to fight and be free from tyranny and unfair taxation. At least Americans were willing to fight for and earn our freedoms, unlike others that are never willing to fight for freedom.

We owe our vets a debt of gratitude.

Thank you!

I apologize if you feel I was being hateful. I certainly don't hate you and did not mean to express any form of hate.

Disagreement isn't hate. From what I can tell so far, I may disagree with you on a few things but we probably agree on others.

As you said, I don't know you. But we can get to know each other here, and I would be happy to call you friend.

I didn't refer to you as ignorant. I hope I was clear however that I thought your last post was a bit condescending (it made you seem like you think OTHER people here are ignorant, actually).

I don't know much about you partly because you're new here and partly because you choose to be anonymous. But Deej vouches for you and that counts for a lot.

Since I don't like to see vague groups of people put down with generalized sloganeering, you may see me comment as I did with your post. Feel free to get specific and educate me with facts that support your positions.

I'll feel free to offer my opinions, such as they are, and the evidence and thinking behind them. Maybe we can learn from each other.

> FYI, I am a service connected disabled vet - plainly, I gave up the majority

I'm very sorry to hear of your injuries. Thank you for your service to our country.

> Germany and the former Czechoslavakia, both socialist satellites...and exactly > 100% of those people I met from communist/dictatorships thanked the US for

The main issue is this: It would be wrong to assume that anyone who criticizes our government or foreign policy today is akin to Lenin,

For example, I'd be interested in any rationale behind the implication that anyone here is advocating a move in the USA toward Nazism. It's grand hyperbole to imply it, and it calls into question the motives of decent people here.

People can disagree in these United States and that doesn't automatically make them stupid or Nazis. Hopefully we can all talk about any disagreements or different perspectives and compare facts, and maybe find common ground and mutual growth.

Everyone sees things from different perspectives which is actually very useful for those who want to compare and learn, it's not threatening.

BTW, if you're going to rail against particular social systems, we may want to get some agreed-on definitions down to start with. We live in a country that combines elements of several systems, so if you're going to bash any of them, it'd be useful to be specific about exactly what you're bashing. Generalizations often lead to misunderstandings.

How do you describe our system overall? How do you define socialism? How do you define fascism? How do you define capitalism? Maybe we should start with those. If you're interested in discussing it.

> Sadly, those very people are more grateful for the US than most people living > in it today...

Where do you get that assumption? Any statistics behind it? That's a large and sad accusation to level against the majority of your fellow citizens.

> And, from me, my father (highly decorated WW2 and Korean War vet), and my > brother (Vietnam vet) you are welcome. I stand by my words, I stand by my > nation.

So as you stand by our nation along with veterans related to you, me and everyone here, I have to think you don't really mean to put down the majority of our citizens with generalized, condescending remarks. I can't believe you really think we're a nation of mostly ignorant ingrates or Nazi wannabes.

I can understand how you might think badly of your fellow countrymen on some days, given the way veterans have been treated here. At times our treatment of veterans has been shameful. We have not always done right by veterans, and that's a big issue.

But I think it goes too far to believe that anyone who disagrees with an assertion is automatically A) unpatriotic or B) unappreciative of the sacrifice of everyone who has put their lives and passion on the line so we may have the opportunity to participate in and help improve our country today.

In fact, a lot of folks are putting their own lives and passion on the line today, in many ways. Good people working to participate and help improve our country. And even if they happen to disagree with you or me on some issues, they have that right. Veterans and non-veterans alike.

> Peace.

Thanks. Have a peaceful weekend.

Cheers,

Yes. they are currently putting the nail in the coffin of the free press there by shutting down the only TV station that broadcasts anything other than the party line.

DJ, I'm not that narrow minded. Just becasue he (Chavez) rags on Bush doe snot make me admire him. Like Castro, and many rulers who won;t follow the US foriegn policy and put their Country first is a leader I admire..

Back in the 60s the US govermen called the Black Panthers a terrosit organization, it was not.. Then seeked to distroy them just beacause they wanted a better america for all especialy African Americans..

It hard for most white americans to belive that their country can do no wrong.
It's just that most of us who are non white belive in the US goverment no mateer whos is office..

No I don't think so at all. the NY Times has published some stuff here (in time of war) for which Castro (or Chavez, since he is Fidel's running dog lackey) would have had the editor executed by firing squad.

Personally, I would have just had the editor prosecuted for treason and then thrown into a pit full of man eating pigs.

PS. James, you also raised another issue, that of the arms industry, in which we are a dominant player. I won't go into it here except to note that one of the objections you raise about Venezuela is that they are buying from a competitor.

Gothcha James!!:) Since they di not purchase from us, they are the ememy.LOL!!

What's wrong wit Communism? I thought you were a Christian? Well anyways, try freedom!!! When you rule your people with military force and take their freedoms away It's not a good thing. They will kill anybody that does not want to go along. He will stay rich while the people live in poverty, that's the Communist way. He is just another communist dictator. He want's to arm Communist rebels all over south america. That's not good for anybody, especially America. That will cause conflicts that a lot of people will die in, possibly americans. The USA will not just stand by and watch south america fall to communism.

LaMont, I guess you are showing your true anti American colors. Or are you just bating? Please clarify.

Is that: man-eating pigs, or: man, eating pigs? In which case,
I don't know why you'd want to throw him into a Famous Dave's Pit BBQ location... I mean, what kind of punishment would THAT be?

Sorry man... gotta have some comedy first here. Bush Doe Snot. I get visuals of deer boxing glove hunting with Cheney and Dubya standing on the other side of the deer in question... ok,now that's out of the way and the tone is hopefully set :)

This isn't about Bush or who 'rags' him - frankly as a 'white american' that voted for him, I think he needs some of it for a few things I've seen. On the other hand: If you think Chavez and Castro are so great, why don't you move outta our house and into theirs? I'm sure you'd find plenty of opportunities like recording audio and freedom of speech and religion there.
If you want to be able to admire leaders, why haven't you put more into getting candidates here in office that you 'can' admire?

> america for all especialy African Americans..

I don't have a problem with betterment of African Americans. The BP's started out as a very good idea in a time when black men were under fire, and considered lesser men merited on skin color. As you may well know, I've worked with some higher profile AA's and it has zero to do with a color as far as I'm concerned - it's just people, some good some bad. However, you're going to stand there and tell me splintered BP's never, ever used violence for their agendas?

Frankly, I think a man's betterment doesn't come from some organization, it comes from opportunity, skills, education and unfortunately sometimes who you know. If this was still 1966, I'd agree with your stand but you are behind the times dude, and there is a lot of racism from every corner based upon old beliefs. Are you on the positive motion or the negative motion side of the fence man?

> It hard for most white americans to belive that their country can do no > wrong.
> It's just that most of us who are non white belive in the US goverment no
> mateer whos is office..

I'm not real sure what you're trying to say here, but if I'm reading this right from your other statements in this and past posts:
For me and those around me in perspective, color has little to nothing to do with it unless the race card is being pulled out for political leverage. An that ain't usually the 'white american'. Can we say Louisiana and Hurricane ever again in the same sentence w/o the race card coming up? I find this bad form and offensive LaMont, and telling of how you'd box in Deej into a catagory on auto pilot. Be careful of blanket statements like that, it sure doesn't shine a positive light man.

Kick back, have a glass of tea and think about why you are making this racial, and at who for what reasons. Then envision a more postiive response and outcome.

I honestly don't think it was LaMont's intent to make this personal. We definitely disagree on this, but it wouldn't be the first time he and I have disagreed. If we were in Venezuela right now.....depending on what we were disagreeing about, one of us might be a bit unhappier than we are right now.

I think we should all be wearin' the same hat here:

Thanks LaMont.

It's always easy to blame other countries. Other countries aren't beyond criticism, and finger pointing makes for fun discussions.

But clearly we need to start by facing up to our own significant responsibilities.

We are, as Bush recently recognized, addicted to oil. Has that sunk in? Hello, America, we are addicted. Addicts, the lot of us. To a resource that others control. To a resource that is finite, it will not last forever.

First and foremost, we need to curb our unhealthy oil dependency with smart conservation and a determined move toward other viable energy sources. NOW.

As we get serious about that, we will have more and better options for a rational foreign policy. Since we want to be a shining example for others to follow, this is a great path for us to walk.

We have a lot of work to do.

Cheers,
-Jamie

Deej, don't forget that in the runup to the Iraq war Judith Miller was pretty much an unpaid war pimp for Cheney's office. Also, for the first couple of years the paper was rabidly pro war. Only when their readership started to demand it did they pipe down a bit.

I suggest you discuss the definition of liberty with the people actually in Venuzuela...I'm sure they (like most others) might take issue with your personal problem with the President...

You have no idea what life is like in other countries, do you?

Actually the media story changed when it became more popular to switch sides. pro war was selling more papers for a time... now anti war serves the same purpose.

LaMont, I am going to give you the benefit of the doubt here and assume good motives on your part.

What concerns me is that you use the admission that Chavez is a dictator as simply another opportunity to blast Bush.

This does NOT make your case against Bush stronger, it makes it weaker because you are not willing to stand against Chavez. It makes you seem like a dishonest lefty blowhard who hates his country so much that he will praise anyone who criticizes it, no matter how wretched they are.

I prefer to think that is not the case.

If it is, then:
What makes you different from the anti-communist idiots who put us on the side of the mujahadeen against the russians in the Russian war in Afghanistan?

Is the enemy of your enemy really your friend?

Back in the 1970's after we left Vietnam, there was a humanitarian disaster as the victorious north took revenge on those who had opposed them in the south. There were thousands of "boat people" doing anything they could to escape torture and death and many died. Millions died in Cambodia as the new dictators pursued ideological purity.

So, Joan Baez spoke out against the persecution of these "boat people" by the new communist leaders. She called fo peace and forgiveness in the new Vietnam.

Guess what? She was blasted by Jane Fonda. When asked why, Jane responded that it was unacceptable to criticize a communist government! We on the left just don't DO that, don't you see?

My point is that you have to be either Jane or Joan. You do NOT have to be a conservative to tell the truth about Chavez, and telling the truth about Chavez does not mean you have to like Bush.

It simply means you have to be honest.

Aaron,

I see/hear/read paraphrases of what you posted all the time. On bumperstickers,

The thing that f@#(*&(kills me about it, every time I hear/see/read it from

I think Aaron's point is valid. Saying communism is Ok is anti American!
 Many people died so you can be free. Those people fought the the Nazis and the Communist.

Yep, it's all the USA's fault. People are really happy down there, they just love there new oppression. Lack of freedom is a real good thing! Freedom, choice, democracy who needs it!!! It's all over rated. Bring on the communism and tell the people that they own the country. Nothing like communist twisting the truth!

Chuck,

I agree actually. But I wonder where the line is? Isn't there a line that you cannot cross and still belong here? There is for me, and there is for many others. Do you have one? I'll bet you do.

If we have none, and you can say anything you wish, then does being an american mean anything?

So when they start killing and oppressing people as communist always do, will that go a long with your Christen beliefs? I don't see how the two fit.

Just because Chavez is a communist and wants a communist government doesn't mean that the people want it. I think they are proving that by their protesting. Oh yeah, I forgot, that's just the dictator Bush's CIA at work, not the real people of Venezuela.

One thing it should always mean is that you can say what you think. Even if it is extremely critical of US policies. This is the most basic principle that this country was founded on.
Try to remember what it is that you are so bent on defending. Basic American ideals. Like freedom of speech!

The Black Panthers a peaceful group??? They even killed some of there own!

My dad had friends that were cops back then that told my dad they had cells all around St. Louis and Detroit. They were organizing and planning to take over the cities by force when they raided them, thanks to the help of black cops!

May be there concept of doing something about oppression was a good one at the time, but they were a violent group that was calling for armed resistance from the get go. Had they been peaceful and not a militant group that killed people, maybe they could have done some good. Their hate did them in!

Yeah, like pissing on a crucifix and calling it freedom of speech. But when it comes to a nativity seen or the ten commandments the greasy schmucks in the ACLU are ready to sue. Where is the freedom of speech then?

Yes it's anti American to say communism is Ok! And it disrespects those who fought and died for your freedoms.

Please.. I'm not a communist, but this is the land of free. Free to workship any religion you see fit. Free to believe want you want. Free to say what you want.

I'm with you... But where is the line? Can you say that I hope we lose a war? Can you say the president should be killed? Can you yell "fire" in a crowded theater? Can you incite to riot? Can you publish information that is likely to cause the death of US military personnel?

It is so damn easy to be for "free speech" and so damn hard to admit that nothing is free...

DC . The line should be drawn by first getting rid of this President. Then holding him up for charges of treason..

You can say fire. We have a president that calls everyone who does agree with him a terroist and anti-american. And it's seems that people like you believe in his bull-shit.

And it appears the rampant over dramatization and over stating of each side continues...

LaMont, your thinking is way off! You can't blame everything on Bush.

My Canadian friends have to come over here because the waiting list for things like surgery or even test results are so long. It doesn't work there, and it wont work here, if our government runs it. Our government mismanages everything!!!!!!!! Yes there should be some kind of low cost or free healthcare. It should only be for American citizens!

Social Security is a joke! The idiots in government keep robbing it to pay for their pork programs. The first law should be that they can't touch it because they never pay it back and it's our money! Second should be that the people have a choice in how it's invested, it's our money!!! They should have split programs where you can have it invested in different accounts so that it's diversified.

The mentality that the government should take care of you is a bad one. The free ride in this country is going to be over soon!!!!!!!!

DC, i know his hard for you to believe, but there are many in this country who are real americans and love this country that will no longer just Take what spews out the war mongering propaganda machine call ed the Bush administration..
For that fact, it could be the Clinton administration.

Look.. Iraq has taught us that, trying to impose our will aka capitalism, does not work. Not in the y2k nor did it work in 70s. Counntries like Iraq like the Strong Man concept..

Now, back to Chavez. He is a hereo to millions of people. The only news you get about chavez is on the 6:00 oclock news. Do some real research and you'll be surprise about what you'd find out about this man.
Let's face it, you gotta have pretty big balls to take on the US ..

You want to say it's racism, it's not, but since we are on the subject...

Since people are free to say what they want, is Whity the blue eyed devil free to say the N word? Is that Ok? Or are there some lines you shouldn't cross? Are you just pissed or can you actually see my point? I believe there some things you just don't say!

By the way, the immigration point I was trying to make is, the middle class is being killed off. It's not a race thing. The things you have work so hard for will be given away. There won't be a middle class for you and I to be part of! This could happen.

First you defend the Panthers and then you once again make the Chavez issue about Bush.

No sale. None for me thanks... Man, you ain't hurtin' Bush, you ain't even hurtin' James. You are just hurting LaMont.

Here's your Mr. Bigballs right here

http://www.breitbart.com/article.php?id=D8PE78LG0&show_a rticle=1

He is a coward and a tyrant.

You talk about free speech being so american. Evidently you don't think the Venezuelans deserve it though, since their dictator has such big balls and all.

Are Venezuelans less human than americans?

Speaking of freedoms, here are more of the CIA Bush lackeys marching in the streets of Caracas. Might want to read the information on the subject.

Common sense give the answer to this often asked question. If in doubt, ask yourself how would the framers of our constitution come down on these issues, my guess:

threats against the president are illegal, but our country was born out of a revolution against the current rulers. The men that wrote the constitution did believe in keeping a close eye on our government and calling them on it whenever they got a little too powerful.

Can you point out when our leaders are ridiculously incompetent and possibly

Can you say out loud that you believe another form of government is just Jefferson would be LOL.

Lords and Commons, arises as much or more from national pride than reason. Individuals are undoubtedly safer in England than in some other countries: but the will of the king is as much the law of the land in Britain as in France, with this difference, that instead of proceeding directly from his mouth, it is handed to the people under the formidable shape of an act of parliament. For the fate of Charles the First hath only made kings more subtle

Wherefore, laying aside all national pride and prejudice in favour of modes and forms, the plain truth is that IT IS WHOLLY OWING TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE PEOPLE, AND NOT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE GOVERNMENT that the crown

James, we agree but disagree.. I believe that Health Care should be free to all Americans.. AND, if you pay into SS, you should some kind of pay-off.

However, it's afact that when people go out to Vegas to invest their money, the outcome is usuallly bad. The average american does not no how to invest in the market. That would be like wall street preying on the weak and innocent. basically robing them (us)..

Also, the Canadian medial system was poor(second rate) before they went national. By going national, only did it polarize what was already known..

James, if a person today wantes to say those negative words they can, BUT they must know that there is a consequence in saying them.

Yes, freddom of speech, but beware of the consequences when spoken.

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

Where is the line? In the USA, when there is a question, the supreme court is the arbiter of constitutional interpretation.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/First_Amendment

BTW, the newest attempt at a justification for the war in Iraq, the slogan "nothing is free," begs the question of whether our military involvement in Iraq is or is not an optimal strategy toward making the USA safer.

There is nothing for free! Health care is not free. Somebody has to pay for it. That would mean much higher taxes, so be prepared to pay for it.
 The tax the rich lie is designed for the suckers. The middle class ALWAYS

The Cold War is not over! It's the communist that are keeping it all going. Russia and China have been building up arms for years now! It is them that are starting the arms race all over again. Go do some research!

I agree that it's best to have good relations with countries around us.

I agree that we can influence countries around us for the better. But the best course of action and the best way to measure results are both up for discussion.

I disagree if you think "love it or leave it" is a substantive political argument in our United States of America. It's not.

I agree that our country needs a lot of improvement. LaMont was asking what was wrong with communism. It was a bated question. I think Aarons point was, if you think communism is so great go live it.

I can't speak for either LaMont or Aaron but I agree with Chuck's point.

And I also think we're beyond red-bating. It's better to discuss specifics.

Cheers,

James.. yes it's not free. But, seeing how much this country waste on stupid things that we'll never see..and we're talking Billions my friend, health care for all is fair shake.

Personally, I don't mind paying for someone who is less fortunate to live instead of dying.

But, thats just me.

On a personal note. You can call me libral all you like, who cares?? Those are my views. I have some libral views and some very conservative ones as well..But, please don't think that you are insulting me with calling me a liberal.. You're not. I take it as a compliment..

Except this is out of context. Read the 'whole' post.

If you want to be able to admire leaders, why haven't you put more into getting candidates here in office that you 'can' admire?

perhaps you gleaned this out?

my point was go live it if it fits ya (hey, it worked for Cat Stevens/Yusuf Islam and everybody was likely happier) , but do not bring it into this house by invitation or looking the other way. Or fix /put more into what is perceived as broken.
I for one don't want such open borders or calling a dictator a hero to encourage another on soil attack, nor do I want to have to learn another language because we get over run by illegal aliens and they won't speak the native tongue, learn the 'house' rules in this country, or put out the proper effort for their own personal prosperity.

What ever LaMont. Your the one that said enough, so here we go again. When you say our government is shit and communism is Ok, your way off.

Your the one that started telling people that they are stupid and brainwashed. I'm just saying that I think your the one that is brainwashed by the liberal media.

Go read up on what is going on in Venezuela, the people are not happy that they are being oppressed by a communist dictator. People are being shot down there.

Communism flourishing in our hemisphere is a threat to our national security. I'm the one that is saying that, not the CIA!

I thought I have read plenty of places that Shavez was coming to the power in a legal, democratic way, with free elections. How can a man be called a dictator when he won the legal election? I must say I see Lamont have plenty of points with his opinions here. So why try to crucify an American person that's seeing freedom as a world sake with different behavings and not just the way his gouvernment are seeing it with their footprints some places in the world for some years now? As far as I can see, sitting in another part of the world, this is not about the American people, it's more about American leaders and their propaganda-manipulating with the American people, that seems to have been very successful up against the years.

Doug, do you mean socialist are the same as communist? Here in Europe, it is two different things, as we have talked about some years ago. In Norway, we have a social gouvernment right now and it has nothing to do at all with communists or dictators. As I can feel on most of the writings here, we are more free as a nation than USA are in these days.

Well James, you just describe what our leaders did to the Natives of this Continent when they so-called founded this land..Now, let's fast forward to today..

Today we block all (Real) TV access to the war and other real events that are going on. They would've blocked 911 if they could've.
Many today in the US feels like we are living under a totalitarianism. Oh yeah, that's the cost of freedom.. Give me a break ..

LaMont your version of the truth is twisted. The first people to come to america got a long great with the indians, it was the entitled bastards that came after them that took from the indians. By the way, many indian tribes brought hell on themselves by the things they did like striping women and children.

on down there in Venezuela?

The funny thing is, they are using the same tactics that they used in Cuba..
Why do we take our opponnents lightly?
