

---

Subject: Headphone Recommendations?

Posted by Larry Hogan on Mon, 27 Apr 2009 18:10:01 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Greetings, PARISians,

Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the loop. (Fairly frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)

Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof studio and control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my basement, but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.) Anyway, after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and running again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project started a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do most mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions via my near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.

Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective) headphones? (What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support local businesses and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully nothing too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.

Many thanks in advance,
Larry Hogan

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?

Posted by Gantt Kushner on Mon, 27 Apr 2009 19:42:01 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Still love my Sennheiser HD580's. Don't know if you can still get them, though.

I have a pair of Audio Technica M50's but I don't think they're anywhere near as accurate. They are great for bass players, though.

Gantt

"Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote:

>

>Greetings, PARISians,

>

>Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the loop. (Fairly frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)

>

>Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof studio and >control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my basement,

>but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.) Anyway,

>after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and running
>again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project started >a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do most >mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions via
my
>near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.
>
>Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective) headphones?
>(What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support local businesses >and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully nothing >too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.
>
>Many thanks in advance,
>Larry Hogan

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by dnafe on Mon, 27 Apr 2009 21:08:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

If you could find a used pair of Grado SR325's they might fall into your price range

Don

"Gantt Kushner" <ganttmann@comcast.net> wrote in message news:49f61039$1@linux...

>
> Still love my Sennheiser HD580's. Don't know if you can still get them, > though.
> I have a pair of Audio Technica M50's but I don't think they're anywhere > near as accurate. They are great for bass players, though.

>
> Gantt

>
> "Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote:

>>
>>Greetings, PARISians,
>>
>>Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the loop.
>>(Fairly >>frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)

>>
>>Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof studio
> and >>control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my >>basement,

>>but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.)
>>Anyway,
>>after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and >>running
>>again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project started
>>a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do most >>mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions via
> my
>>near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.
>>
>>Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective)
>>headphones?
>>(What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support local >>businesses
>>and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully nothing >>too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.
>>
>>Many thanks in advance,
>>Larry Hogan
>

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by Wayne on Mon, 27 Apr 2009 21:30:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I use Sony MDR-7506 and MDR-V6. They sound almost identical and each run about $100 bucks. I like the way they sound but haven't had great luck mixing with them.

Wayne

"Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote in message
news:49f5fa71$1@linux...

>
> Greetings, PARISians,
>
> Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the loop.
> (Fairly
> frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)
>
> Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof studio
> and
> control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my
> basement,
> but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.)
> Anyway,
> after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and

> running
> again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project started
> a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do most > mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions via my
> near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.
>
> Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective)
> headphones?
> (What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support local > businesses
> and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully nothing > too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.
>
> Many thanks in advance,
> Larry Hogan

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by Dave EK on Mon, 27 Apr 2009 22:31:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Audio Technica ATH-M50S are quite popular.

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by Gantt Kushner on Tue, 28 Apr 2009 02:26:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

MDR-7506's and V6's are too bright for critical listening. They're good for editing because you hear EVERYTHING and I don't mind the low end, though. But if ever there were a pair of cans to NOT mix with, 7506's are them!

Gantt

"Wayne Carson" <waynecarson@cox.net> wrote:

>I use Sony MDR-7506 and MDR-V6. They sound almost identical and each run

>about $100 bucks. I like the way they sound but haven't had great luck >mixing with them.

>Wayne

>

>

>"Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote in message

>news:49f5fa71$1@linux...

>>

>> Greetings, PARISians,

>>
>> Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the loop.

>> (Fairly
>> frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)
>>
>> Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof studio

>> and
>> control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my
>> basement,
>> but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.)

>> Anyway,
>> after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and

>> running
>> again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project started
>> a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do most >> mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions via
my
>> near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.

>>
>> Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective)
>> headphones?
>> (What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support local

>> businesses
>> and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully nothing >> too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.

>>
>> Many thanks in advance,
>> Larry Hogan
>
>

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by Gantt Kushner on Tue, 28 Apr 2009 02:26:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I don't trust the low end on M50's. Seems hyped to me.

Gantt

Dave Harrison. <info@eksound.com> wrote:
>Audio Technica ATH-M50S are quite popular.

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by kerryg on Tue, 28 Apr 2009 03:18:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I'm probably not the guy to ask, but I've always got on very well with plain ol' AKG 270s and 271s.

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by Larry Hogan on Tue, 28 Apr 2009 03:34:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Thanks to everyone for your quick responses. I obviously have a lot to think about, more importantly to hopefully be able to check some of these out at local stores. Would Guitar Center (45 minutes away) be a good source, or might Best Buy (15 minutes drive) be just as good? (I would guess that Best Buy would carry more like "living room" types of consumer headphones, right?)

getting a decent pair since mine are pretty old and crumbly around the padding. And the concept that a pair might be great for editing, but (what?) too harsh or exhausting to also mix with seems ironic, to say the least. It would have seemed like good 'phones would have been good 'phones. Ha. Guess I have a lot to learn.

If a pair were really superb for both functions, my budget might be able to stretch a bit, so any more advice is still appreciated. :-)

Thanks again.
Larry Hogan

"Gantt Kushner" <ganttmann@comcast.net> wrote:

>
>MDR-7506's and V6's are too bright for critical listening. They're good for >editing because you hear EVERYTHING and I don't mind the low end, though.
> But if ever there were a pair of cans to NOT mix with, 7506's are them!

>
>Gantt

>
>"Wayne Carson" <waynecarson@cox.net> wrote:
>>I use Sony MDR-7506 and MDR-V6. They sound almost identical and each run >>about $100 bucks. I like the way they sound but haven't had great luck >>mixing with them.

>>Wayne

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?

Posted by Larry Hogan on Tue, 28 Apr 2009 03:44:01 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Thanks, Gantt. I checked the HD-580s out online, and you're right; they're apparently discontinued. People reviewing them at Amazon seem to recommend the Sennheiser HD-595 as a great replacement, but the negative aspect of some reports indicate that they're almost as loud to those around you as they are to the wearer, and that the leakage is actually both ways and that that is part of their supposed design superiority. Not a fan of leakage, even though they reportedly sound great and are comfortable for long periods of use. Comfort is a big plus, of course.

Thanks again.

Larry

"Gantt Kushner" <ganttmann@comcast.net> wrote:

>

>Still love my Sennheiser HD580's. Don't know if you can still get them, though.

> I have a pair of Audio Technica M50's but I don't think they're anywhere

>near as accurate. They are great for bass players, though.

>

>Gantt

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?

Posted by Aaron Allen on Tue, 28 Apr 2009 05:48:09 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

<http://www.extremeheadphones.com/> if you need isolation that's, well.. extreme. I love mine to drum with live, nothing touches them. I think they're a bit dark but I like that extra low end umpph live, and I got the 'black' series with the extended low end. They're pretty close to 30dB isolation IIRC, and anything over about 100hz dies before it reaches your ears with them.

I have the K240, this looks like the replacement model (240 Mark II).

Clarity is pretty good on my 240's, but they are very open and bleeding....

http://www.akg.com/site/products/powerslave,id,1063,pid,1063,nodeid,2,\_language,EN.html

I have tried electrostatics, and thought they were pretty good but thin for my tastes.. YMMV.

AA

"Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote in message
news:49f67eb7$1@linux...

>
> Thanks to everyone for your quick responses. I obviously have a lot to > think > about, more importantly to hopefully be able to check some of these out at > local stores. Would Guitar Center (45 minutes away) be a good source, or > might Best Buy (15 minutes drive) be just as good? (I would guess that > Best
> Buy would carry more like "living room" types of consumer headphones, > right?)
>
> I really don't use headphones much-hence my needing advice to think about > getting a decent pair since mine are pretty old and crumbly around the > padding.
> And the concept that a pair might be great for editing, but (what?) too > harsh or exhausting to also mix with seems ironic, to say the least. It > would > have seemed like good 'phones would have been good 'phones. Ha. Guess I > have > a lot to learn.
>
> If a pair were really superb for both functions, my budget might be able > to stretch a bit, so any more advice is still appreciated. :-)
>
> Thanks again.
> Larry Hogan

>
>
> "Gantt Kushner" <ganttmann@comcast.net> wrote:
>>
>>MDR-7506's and V6's are too bright for critical listening. They're good > for >>editing because you hear EVERYTHING and I don't mind the low end, though.
>> But if ever there were a pair of cans to NOT mix with, 7506's are them!

>>
>>Gantt
>>
>>"Wayne Carson" <waynecarson@cox.net> wrote:
>>>I use Sony MDR-7506 and MDR-V6. They sound almost identical and each run >>>about $100 bucks. I like the way they sound but haven't had great luck
>
>>>mixing with them.
>>>Wayne
>

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by Erling on Tue, 28 Apr 2009 08:22:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I love my AKG 240 Studio, that also match your price.

<http://www.akg.com/personal/>

They're half open but my experience since the early sixties with headphones, open and halfopened systems have allways seems to be more natural in my ears. Here in Europe, AKG and Sennheiser have allways delivered good headphones for studio/sound use. Sennheiser HD-25 closed system, have been defacto standard for Broadway and mixing on festivals for years here in Europe and is well worth to use if there's much noise around you.

<http://www.sennheiserusa.com/newsite/category.asp?transid=ca t3>

<http://www.sennheiserusa.com/newsite/category.asp?transid=ca t0>

Have used them for years for controllistening, when making sounds on festivals and have seen them nearly everywhere here in Scandinavia for that kind of jobs. In my studio, I am using Stax electrostatic HP to controllisten since '80. It's the best "speakers" you can ever own but prices are really at the wrong end nowaday and they are really open and dangerous, since the sound are so good that you're not observing that it's too easy to play with too much extremely high volume, since the sound is just silky.

<http://www.stax.co.jp/Export/SR404e.html>

Good luck

Erling

"Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> skrev i en meddelelse news:49f5fa71$1@linux...

>

> Greetings, PARISians,

>

> Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the loop.

> (Fairly

> frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)

>

> Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof studio

> and

> control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my

> basement,

> but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.)

> Anyway,

> after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and

> running

> again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project started

> a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do most > mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions via my

> near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.
>
> Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective)
> headphones?
> (What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support local > businesses
> and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully nothing > too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.
>
> Many thanks in advance,
> Larry Hogan

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by Martin Harrington on Tue, 28 Apr 2009 08:29:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

That's because they have an extremely false bottom end.
As a location recordist / mixer, I, and indeed most of the location industry use the Sony's, but mainly so we can hear the rumble of a boom mic on the end of a pole, or traffic / Aircon noise.

Martin H
Lend An Ear Sound
On 28/04/09 7:30 AM, in article 49f629c1@linux, "Wayne Carson" <waynecarson@cox.net> wrote:

> I use Sony MDR-7506 and MDR-V6. They sound almost identical and each run > about $100 bucks. I like the way they sound but haven't had great luck > mixing with them.
> Wayne
>
>
> "Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote in message
> news:49f5fa71$1@linux...
>>
>> Greetings, PARISians,
>>
>> Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the loop.
>> (Fairly
>> frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)
>>
>> Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof studio
>> and
>> control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my
>> basement,
>> but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.)
>> Anyway,

>> after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and
>> running
>> again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project started
>> a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do most >> mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions via my
>> near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.
>>
>> Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective)
>> headphones?
>> (What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support local >> businesses
>> and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully nothing >> too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.
>>
>> Many thanks in advance,
>> Larry Hogan
>
>

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by Dale on Tue, 28 Apr 2009 09:40:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Beyerdynamic DT 770 is pretty nice and isolates well. Guitar Center has regularly offered them for $150 on their Memorial Day & Labor Day sales (if you can wait a month or so :)

dale

P.S. I listened to several Ultrasonics models & thought they were crap (rather spendy crap too)

"Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote:

>
>Greetings, PARISians,
>
>Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the loop. (Fairly >frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)
>
>Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof studio
and
>control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my basement, >but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.) Anyway, >after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and running
>again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project started
>a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do most >mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions via

my
>near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.
>
>Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective) headphones?
>(What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support local businesses
>and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully nothing >too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.
>
>Many thanks in advance,
>Larry Hogan

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by AlexPlasko on Tue, 28 Apr 2009 16:41:23 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I don't mix with them, but have good luck with AT ATH D-40 's.No complaints
yet. around $100.

not exactly snob grade but they work for me.

"Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote in message
news:49f5fa71$1@linux...

>
> Greetings, PARISians,
>
> Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the loop.
> (Fairly
> frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)
>
> Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof studio
> and
> control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my
> basement,
> but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.)
> Anyway,
> after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and
> running
> again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project started
> a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do most > mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions via my
> near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.
>
> Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective)
> headphones?
> (What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support local > businesses
> and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully nothing > too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.

>
> Many thanks in advance,
> Larry Hogan

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by Jamie K on Tue, 28 Apr 2009 18:18:26 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Looks like we have the same taste in headsets, Aaron. :^)

Aaron Allen wrote:

> <http://www.extremeheadphones.com/> if you need isolation that's, well.. > extreme. I love mine to drum with live, nothing touches them. I think > they're a bit dark but I like that extra low end umpph live, and I got the > 'black' series with the extended low end. They're pretty close to 30dB > isolation IIRC, and anything over about 100hz dies before it reaches your > ears with them.

+1 on the extreme isolation headphones for drumming, studio recording with little or no bleed, and location sound. Mine lack high end but they offer significant isolation. Great when you need it. Not as comfortable as the 240 and I wouldn't mix with them.

> I have the K240, this looks like the replacement model (240 Mark II).
> Clarity is pretty good on my 240's, but they are very open and bleeding....
> http://www.akg.com/site/products/powerslave,id,1063,pid,1063,nodeid,2,\_language,EN.html

My AKG K240 has been a decent sounding and reasonably comfortable headset for general studio use. Pretty good for mixing, but definitely check with speakers whenever you're trying to mix with headphones. It's never the same.

Cheers,
-Jamie
www.JamieKrutz.com

> I have tried electrostatics, and thought they were pretty good but thin for > my tastes.. YMMV.
>
> AA
>
>
> "Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote in message > news:49f67eb7$1@linux...

>> Thanks to everyone for your quick responses. I obviously have a lot to >> think >> about, more importantly to hopefully be able to check some of these out at >> local stores. Would Guitar Center (45 minutes away) be a good source, or >> might Best Buy (15 minutes drive) be just as good? (I would guess that >> Best
>> Buy would carry more like "living room" types of consumer headphones, >> right?)
>>
>> I really don't use headphones much-hence my needing advice to think about >> getting a decent pair since mine are pretty old and crumbly around the >> padding.
>> And the concept that a pair might be great for editing, but (what?) too >> harsh or exhausting to also mix with seems ironic, to say the least. It >> would >> have seemed like good 'phones would have been good 'phones. Ha. Guess I >> have >> a lot to learn.
>>
>> If a pair were really superb for both functions, my budget might be able >> to stretch a bit, so any more advice is still appreciated. :-)
>>
>> Thanks again.
>> Larry Hogan
>>
>>
>> "Gantt Kushner" <ganttmann@comcast.net> wrote:
>>> MDR-7506's and V6's are too bright for critical listening. They're good
>> for
>>> editing because you hear EVERYTHING and I don't mind the low end, though.
>>> But if ever there were a pair of cans to NOT mix with, 7506's are them!
>>>
>>> Gantt
>>>
>>> "Wayne Carson" <waynecarson@cox.net> wrote:
>>>> I use Sony MDR-7506 and MDR-V6. They sound almost identical and each run >>>> about $100 bucks. I like the way they sound but haven't had great luck >>>> mixing with them.
>>>> Wayne
>
>

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by Riich S on Tue, 28 Apr 2009 19:22:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

HD280's or K240's - I have both, K240 I like better if isolation is not an issue - the HD280's have pretty good isolation. Either one work for you.

"Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote:

>
>Greetings, PARISians,
>
>Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the loop. (Fairly >frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)
>
>Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof studio
and >control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my basement, >but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.) Anyway, >after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and running
>again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project started
>a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do most >mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions via
my
>near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.
>
>Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective) headphones?
>(What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support local businesses
>and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully nothing >too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.
>
>Many thanks in advance,
>Larry Hogan

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?

Posted by [john Macy\[2\]](#) on Wed, 29 Apr 2009 00:32:01 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Grados--my faves for years...George Massenburg says you can hear the grass grow in them....

"Rich S." <studiodog_99@xxahoo.com> wrote:

>
>
>HD280's or K240's - I have both, K240 I like better if isolation is not an >issue - the HD280's have pretty good isolation. Either one work for you.
>"Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote:
>>
>>Greetings, PARISians,
>>
>>Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the loop.

(Fairly
>>frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)
>>
>>Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof studio
>and
>>control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my basement,
>>but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.) Anyway, >>after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and running
>>again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project started
>>a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do most >>mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions via
>my
>>near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.
>>
>>Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective) headphones?
>>(What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support local businesses
>>and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully nothing >>too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.
>>
>>Many thanks in advance,
>>Larry Hogan
>

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by Gantt Kushner on Thu, 30 Apr 2009 13:08:50 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hey Don - Do you mind saying what your low-ball bid was?

Gantt

"Don Nafe" <dnafe@rogers.com> wrote:
>I have a pair of RS-1s and Mr. Massenburg is absolutely correct.
>
>In my journey to reach the holy grail of headphones I tried out AKG, Sony, >Sennheiser and Beyer top end headphones (sorry, I forget which models) and >I >would have gladly bought any one of them at the time for reference listening >purposes but I jokingly put a lowball bid on these Grado's (on EBay) and >damn if I didn't win them.
>
>Sometimes the cosmic comedian plays nice with you.
>

>Don
>
>
>
>"John Macy" <nospamjohn@johnmacy.com> wrote in message
>news:49f7a55d$1@linux...
>>
>> Grados--my faves for years...George Massenburg says you can hear the grass >> grow in them....
>>
>>
>>
>> "Rich S." <studiodog_99@xxahoo.com> wrote:
>>>
>>>
>>>HD280's or K240's - I have both, K240 I like better if isolation is not >> an >>>issue - the HD280's have pretty good isolation. Either one work for >>>you.

>>>"Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote:
>>>>
>>>>Greetings, PARISians,
>>>>
>>>>Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the loop.
>> (Fairly
>>>>frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)
>>>>
>>>>Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof studio
>>>>and
>>>>control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my
>>>>basement,
>>>>but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.)

>>>>Anyway,
>>>>after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and

>>>>running
>>>>again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project started >>>>a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do >>>>most >>>>mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions via
>>>>my
>>>>near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.
>>>>
>>>>Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective)
>>>>headphones?
>>>>(What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support local

>> businesses
>>>>and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully
>>>>nothing
>>>>too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.
>>>>
>>>>Many thanks in advance,
>>>>Larry Hogan
>>>
>>
>
>

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by Gantt Kushner on Thu, 30 Apr 2009 13:28:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hmmm. I seem to have changed my name. TAKE THAT GOOGLE!

Find me now.

"Ganatt Kushner" <ganttmann@comcast.net> wrote:

>
>Hey Don - Do you mind saying what your low-ball bid was?
>
>Gantt
>

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by dnafe on Thu, 30 Apr 2009 21:30:33 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

$500 USD if I rememembr correctly...came in at a little under $750 CDN after shipping and taxes...which was $400 below the best price I could find in Canada at the time

Don

"Ganatt Kushner" <ganttmann@comcast.net> wrote in message
news:49f9a2e2$1@linux...

>
> Hey Don - Do you mind saying what your low-ball bid was?
>
> Gantt
>
> "Don Nafe" <dnafe@rogers.com> wrote:

>>I have a pair of RS-1s and Mr. Massenburg is absolutely correct.
>>
>>In my journey to reach the holy grail of headphones I tried out AKG, Sony,
>
>>Sennheiser and Beyer top end headphones (sorry, I forget which models) and > I
>>would have gladly bought any one of them at the time for reference >>listening
>
>>purposes but I jokingly put a lowball bid on these Grado's (on EBay) and
>
>>damn if I didn't win them.
>>
>>Sometimes the cosmic comedian plays nice with you.
>>
>>Don
>>
>>
>>
>>"John Macy" <nospamjohn@johnmacy.com> wrote in message
>>news:49f7a55d$1 @linux...
>>>
>>> Grados--my faves for years...George Massenburg says you gan hear the >>> grass
>>> grow in them....
>>>
>>>
>>> "Rich S." <studiodog_99@xxahoo.com> wrote:
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>HD280's or K240's - I have both, K240 I like better if isolation is not >>> an >>>>issue - the HD280's have pretty good isolation. Either one work for
>
>>>>you.
>>>>"Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote:
>>>>>
>>>>>Greetings, PARISians,
>>>>>
>>>>>Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the loop.
>>> (Fairly
>>>>>frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)
>>>>>
>>>>>Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof studio
>>>>and
>>>>>control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my
>>>>>basement,

>>>>>but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.)
>
>>>>>Anyway,
>>>>>after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and
>
>>>>>running
>>>>>again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project >>>>>started >>>>>a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do > most >>>>>mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions via
>>>>>my
>>>>>near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.
>>>>>
>>>>>Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective)
>>>>>headphones?
>>>>>(What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support local >>> businesses
>>>>>and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully
>>>>>nothing
>>>>>too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.
>>>>>
>>>>>Many thanks in advance,
>>>>>Larry Hogan
>>>>
>>>
>>
>>
>

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by Tom Bruhl on Thu, 30 Apr 2009 22:07:43 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Some serious change there Don. I know I got the Sennheiser HD650s for around $250 and am overjoyed with both their comfort and sound. Maybe not the same level that you're getting though? I have some mid priced Grados that are not comfortable and sound strident. The Senns I can mix on confidently and do so bouncing between other monitors.

Tom

"Don Nafe" <dnafe@rogers.com> wrote in message <news:49fa1e68@linux...>
> $500 USD if I rememebr correctly...came in at a little under $750 CDN

> after shipping and taxes...which was $400 below the best price I could > find in Canada at the time
>
> Don
>
> "Ganatt Kushner" <ganttmann@comcast.net> wrote in message > news:49f9a2e2$1@linux...
>>
>> Hey Don - Do you mind saying what your low-ball bid was?
>>
>> Gantt
>>
>> "Don Nafe" <dnafe@rogers.com> wrote:
>>>I have a pair of RS-1s and Mr. Massenburg is absolutely correct.
>>>
>>>In my journey to reach the holy grail of headphones I tried out AKG, >>>Sony,
>>
>>>Sennheiser and Beyer top end headphones (sorry, I forget which models)
>>>and
>> I >>>would have gladly bought any one of them at the time for reference >>>listening
>>
>>>purposes but I jokingly put a lowball bid on these Grado's (on EBay) and
>>
>>>damn if I didn't win them.
>>>
>>>Sometimes the cosmic comedian plays nice with you.
>>>
>>>Don
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>"John Macy" <nospamjohn@johnmacy.com> wrote in message
>>>news:49f7a55d$1@linux...
>>>>
>>>> Grados--my faves for years...George Massenburg says you can hear the >>>> grass
>>>> grow in them....
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>> "Rich S." <studiodog_99@xxahoo.com> wrote:
>>>>>
>>>>>
>>>>>HD280's or K240's - I have both, K240 I like better if isolation is not >>>> an

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by Sarahtonin on Fri, 01 May 2009 13:00:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I just like 'em cuz they're comfy, and nice to listen to real loud. :) But I never mix on headphones, either. I like 'em just for tracking and diagnosing.

S

"Martin Harrington" <martin@lendanear-sound.com> wrote in message news:C61CFBA1.972D%martin@lendanear-sound.com...

> That's because they have an extremely false bottom end.
> As a location recordist / mixer, I, and indeed most of the location > industry
> use the Sony's, but mainly so we can hear the rumble of a boom mic on the > end of a pole, or traffic / Aircon noise.

>

> Martin H
> Lend An Ear Sound
> On 28/04/09 7:30 AM, in article 49f629c1@linux, "Wayne Carson" > <waynecarson@cox.net> wrote:

>

>> I use Sony MDR-7506 and MDR-V6. They sound almost identical and each run >> about $100 bucks. I like the way they sound but haven't had great luck >> mixing with them.
>> Wayne

>>

>>

>> "Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote in message >> news:49f5fa71$1@linux...

>>>

>>> Greetings, PARISians,

>>>

>>> Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the loop.

>>> (Fairly

>>> frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)

>>>

>>> Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof studio

>>> and

>>> control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my

>>> basement,

>>> but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.)

>>> Anyway,

>>> after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and

>>> running

>>> again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project started

>>> a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do

>>> most

>>> mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions via
>>> my
>>> near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.
>>>
>>> Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective)
>>> headphones?
>>> (What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support local >>> businesses
>>> and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully
>>> nothing
>>> too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.
>>>
>>> Many thanks in advance,
>>> Larry Hogan
>>
>>
>
>
>

---

---

Subject: Re: Headphone Recommendations?
Posted by dnafe on Sat, 02 May 2009 21:48:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Those were the Sennheiser's I was looking at along with a pair of Sony, AKG and Beyer...all outstanding headphones for the price...I just couldn't find any (used) at the time.

Then I made the mistake of popping into a buddies place and got a chance to check out his broken in set of Grado's RS-1s and I was sold on the sound. as for comfort I'd give them an 7.5 - 8.0 out of 10

Don

"Tom Bruhl" <arpeggio@comcast.net> wrote in message <news:49fa266f@linux...>
> Some serious change there Don. I know I got the Sennheiser HD650s for > around $250 and am overjoyed with both their comfort and sound. Maybe > not the same level that you're getting though? I have some mid priced > Grados that are not comfortable and sound strident. The Senns I can mix > on > confidently and do so bouncing between other monitors.
>
>
> Tom
>
>

>
> "Don Nafe" <dnafe@rogers.com> wrote in message news:49fa1e68@linux...
>> $500 USD if I rememebr correctly...came in at a little under $750 CDN
>> after shipping and taxes...which was $400 below the best price I could >> find in Canada at the time
>>
>> Don
>>
>> "Ganatt Kushner" <ganttmann@comcast.net> wrote in message >> news:49f9a2e2$1@linux...
>>>
>>> Hey Don - Do you mind saying what your low-ball bid was?
>>>
>>> Gantt
>>>
>>> "Don Nafe" <dnafe@rogers.com> wrote:
>>>>I have a pair of RS-1s and Mr. Massenburg is absolutely correct.
>>>>
>>>>In my journey to reach the holy grail of headphones I tried out AKG, >>>>Sony,
>>>
>>>>Sennheiser and Beyer top end headphones (sorry, I forget which models)
>>>>and
>>> I
>>>>would have gladly bought any one of them at the time for reference >>>>listening
>>>
>>>>purposes but I jokingly put a lowball bid on these Grado's (on EBay) and
>>>
>>>>damn if I didn't win them.
>>>>
>>>>Sometimes the cosmic comedian plays nice with you.
>>>>
>>>>Don
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>"John Macy" <nospamjohn@johnmacy.com> wrote in message >>>>news:49f7a55d$1@linux...
>>>>>
>>>>> Grados--my faves for years...George Massenburg says you gan hear the >>>>> grass
>>>>> grow in them....
>>>>>
>>>>>
>>>>>
>>>>> "Rich S." <studiodog_99@xxahoo.com> wrote:
>>>>>>

>>>>>
>>>>>HD280's or K240's - I have both, K240 I like better if isolation is >>>>>not >>>>> an >>>>>issue - the HD280's have pretty good isolation. Either one work for
>>>
>>>>>you.
>>>>>"Larry Hogan" <ooglybong@nycap.rr.com> wrote:
>>>>>
>>>>>>Greetings, PARISians,
>>>>>>
>>>>>>Still here after many a year but I've definitely been out of the >>>>>>loop.
>>>>> (Fairly
>>>>>>frequent lurking, but too busy to contribute much. Sorry.)
>>>>>>
>>>>>>Two years ago, my wife and I moved. I had had a nice sound-proof >>>>>>studio
>>>>>>and
>>>>>>control room I had built back in the mid-90s, taking over 1/3 of my
>>>>>>basement,
>>>>>>but now I'll have to be rebuilding that. (My summer plan, hopefully.)
>>>
>>>>>>Anyway,
>>>>>>after ripping apart my studio and PARIS rig, I now need to get up and
>>>
>>>>>>running
>>>>>>again in a temporary area in order to finally complete a project
>>>>>>started
>>>>>>a few years ago. My new home is such that I will probably need to do >>> most >>>>>>mixing/editing via headphones (with occasional real-world auditions >>>>>>via
>>>>>>my
>>>>>>near fields, of course) until I rebuild the studio.
>>>>>>
>>>>>>Any tips on some very good-to-great (yet hopefully cost effective)
>>>>>>headphones?
>>>>>>(What DO good phones go for?) I would like to be able to support >>>>>>local >>>>> businesses
>>>>>>and, of course, be able to audition the phones there, so hopefully
>>>>>>nothing
>>>>>>too esoteric. Can I get a really nice pair for, say, less than $200.
>>>>>>
>>>>>>Many thanks in advance,
>>>>>>Larry Hogan
>>>>>>

>>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>
>>
>>
>
>

---