Hey Neil,

I've changed my mind. It's not for sale. I've decided against the Portico as well. I'm just going to get myself a 3124.

I haven't been doing as much acoustic instrument tracking as I normally do around here, but I know that's going to be happening again in a big way in the next few months and I'll be ki eir life packaged and unused).

I'm based in the UK, so shipping will have to be investigated for each item, shoot me a mail with any interest to one.ninehundred@virgin.net

thanks

Trust me, nobody's moving anywhere.

PT would be in a supporting role just like Reaper, Nuendo, Cubase and SawStudio.

Actually Saw's just a PITA because it won't lock to Paris so it doesn't gets used and won't until the moron who builds it set up a sync as slave mode which of course will never happen because why would anyone use SAW in a supporting role

Fuck'em

heheheStill have two C-16 control surfaces available. The EDS-1000 cards just went to Autralia.

Thanks, Mike (write to mikeandt@cox.net for more info)

I have two (2) C-16 control surfaces left, one black and one blue. Write to mikeandt@cox.net (Arizona) for prices or more info. Includes the CAT cables.
