Hey Guys & Gals.. I need to ghost my System drive. I have Symantec's Ghost.
But, I don;t have a floppy drive on this computer to boot the ghost program.
Is there a way to :

-Create a bootable CD for Cdrom access both Ghost a drive ?
Thanks..LaMont

You'll have to create a CD that runs a floppy emulation. It is possible, easy, etc. make it a 2.88 emu or you won't have room for the app and other files.

Hey LaMont,

I use BartPE (<http://www.nu2.nu/pebuilder/>) at work where we are constantly imaging machines. It's a slightly involved process to get the CD made, but it's not that tough. If you like I can send you one of ours, just email me your address.

Hi Lamont,
I believe the newest Ghost can create bootable CDs. Not sure though sense I used for a a couple years now.

You can build a Bart PE image and use the Ghost 8.0 plug ins as long as you own 8.0.
<http://www.nu2.nu/pebuilder/>
<http://www.nu2.nu/pebuilder/pluginhelp/ghost.htm>

This is one of the coolest programs by the way. Probably the most powerful tech tool out there.
