Just wanted to share. I can't believe that I'm actually moving into a dedicated studio space!! The rooms will be located in a small barn.
Upstairs are what were two bedrooms -both are 15x13. For now, I'll set up one as the mix/writing space and the other to for live recording.
Downstairs is yet to be finished off. But having two entire rooms is just beyond belief. Once the downstairs is finished that space will be large enough to hold a (small) band. One could always wish for still more space, but after fifteen some odd years of setting up in tiny bedrooms (inside of small appartments), having an entire building is whack. I'll post some pics once I'm set up.

In an old barn? I have only two words for you, then: POWER CONDITIONERS!

OK, and maybe have all the wiring checked before you get rolling in the first place.

I lied, I have more words, actually... congrats, and yes, post some pics (before AND after!).

Thanks DJ. We're still in the process of moving from house to house. I hoping to be in and set up after next weekend. Can't wait!
