okay.. so this is where I'm at so far, I have a single core athalon pc running windows xp (black). I got version 2.2 working on the single core driver (the free one) just fine, but when I try to install version 3, it goes through the install procedure and when I click the icon nothing happens, no splash screen etc.

I suspect its either the driver Im using or my windows xp.. anyone run into this issue?

Im aware of mike's drivers and Im planning to make the purchase at some point along with some of the plugs, but im flat broke from buying the paris system last week and just want to get her going, learn and experiment before investing more cash.

although I think I messed up the effects folder.. the previous owner gave me a bunch of chuck duffy effects that he had bought.. I extracted the whole lot into the plugins folder (system32>ensoniq) and it boots up with a bunch of errors, doesn't like the .dll files and only a couple of the plugins actually show up. I took out the .dll files but only two out of 8 or so new plugins work.

If anyone can shed some light on how to install the extra plugins from a zip file let me now.

Does the zip file contain the dll's or ppj files?
