hi chaps

submitted an auth request on the 30th jan and hoped that i might have a response by now. had anyone recently had an authorisation? if so how long did it take?

many thanks

Are we talking about the same Max that used to work for Emu?
Shouldn't he get like a lifetime free pass authorization code?

I sent ID a request for a response code yesterday and received the response today! I wonder if you're email address was blocked for some reason? Have you sent a follow up email?

If you don't have all the right data to get reauthorized in your request, you will be ignored. Happened for me some years ago. Better take a phone call and ask what's happening with your request.

Is there a Mac version of Anti Pace? I'm on a PC and I think I have a version somewhere if you need it.

i had something to say but...it went away...oh yeah, too few macs for the hackers to care about at that time...you know...bragging rights. and macs were pt at the time. i worked on pt back then and i still don't know why it survived and paris didn't. for all it's numbers ther is still nothing magical about pt...except it's survival.

Funny, I'm experiencing that also, too often, how thoughts seem to just seem to disappear into the ether :-) just to let you know i phoned intdevices and eventually spoke to rachel (?).

anyway she was very helpful and said she'd pass my email to the right person almost straight away i got my response.

it didn't work. i was gutted. a few more emails back and forth and still no joy. i was ready to give up on the whole thing until i realised that the response will not work UNLESS YOU HAVE FILLED IN YOUR ADDRESS AND PHONE NUMBER.

i must have known this years ago but had forgotten it.

anyway now it's working again. thanks to everyone here for their help.

best wishes

max

Max,

Funny to see your name here again....I hope you had enough paris gear left as 2 years ago when I was working over in Scotland I think I left back to the States in the fall of 2005 with a lot of what you and David? had put in storage. Anyway, just wanted to hello.

hi matt

we just kept an eds1000 card and our trusty 442. actually i think we'll never need the card as all i need to do now is export omfs from any old projects i have to restore. the last couple have been the only two since i saw you so it's hardly high priority stuff for us, i just want to be able to cover ourselves should a very old client pop out of the woodwork.

hope you're well.

max
