Jesus uses OSX to count souls.
Osama uses XP to plan attacks.
George Bush uses an Etch-a-Sketch to defend us against attacks.

Discuss.

Elvis uses Debian to plot his return. No really, I've seen him on other newsgroups. It's tough for him though, not many people know it, but he has a penguin phobia. Every now and then he forgets to use command line apt-get to upgrade his distro and uses Synaptic instead. Freaking tux everywhere, new gnome themes, penguins at the login screen and everything. It ain't pretty. He flips out in his Peruvian mountain lair and you won't hear from him for months.

Stallman gets the royalties from "Heartbreak Hotel" now too.

"George Bush uses an Etch-a-Sketch to defend us against attacks."
okay i'll buy into this but, is this with help or a solo effort?

Actually I think al-Quaeda uses Macs/OSX (seriously).

They are quite fond of the iLife suite apparently. Great for making training DVDs, cataloguing photos from sightseeing trips, iMovie is Osama's favorite for making those inspiring home videos, and finally iWeb for creating blogs for support groups, including hair care in the sometimes harsh Afghan mountains.

I think this is the key to winning the war on terror. Since we know they like Macs, instead of bombing the freedom fighters, we could offer them new G5's if they will respect Roe v Wade and promise not to kill us.
