How can I inport new patch bay setup in old Project? Can I save all patch bay setups somewhere?
Thanks

Goran

I don't have the manual in front of me right now but if I remember correctly you have two areas to the right, one on top of the other that hold local patchbays and global (for all projects). There are arrows at the top that move the stored patchbays left and right from the local to the main window with all the modules and there are buttons to move patchbays up and down from local to global. There should also be buttons to save / open to and from a file. You can open these files in any project and easily go back and forth from project to project with your patchbays.

Goran,

When saving always right click. It will save your modules too!
Save to disk on the little pull down menu up top in a folder of your choosing.
Load from that folder into other projects.

Goran,

That's good to hear!
