James,

The Windows vibrator blows this thing away. It's called Windows Fista (I can't believe I just typed that!) and it's much more powerful. I've never had one in my hand, but here's some of the tech info. The clock speed is 30,000 rpm as opposed to 15,000, it supports a wider throughput, and allows for much greater peripheral expansion. It's also a full Gigabyte longer than the iDong. It only runs on XP right now, but the Vista Fista drivers should be out early next quarter. The hype surrounding the iDong is just another attempt by Jobs and company to get a rise out of the Windows community. As usual, Jobs is just flopping his "you know what" around.

Tony

I'm sure your right Tony, I'm sure the Window version really blows;) The Windows Fista, looks soooo much bigger! But for the Hardcore Windows user it would cum in real handy. It would really fit some of the real anal user.

Sorry, I couldn't resist either!

Just kidding around guy! Ditto on the disclaimer.

Come on man. You know the Windows version is just riddled with bloatware!

Although maybe that's not a bad thing?
