Hi

Am interested to expand my paris system.
I already have a Mec module with EDS1000 and control16.

Do i need a second MEC module to add an other EDS1000 and an other control16?

Please advice. Might get also one input 8 card for mec module.

Thank you in advance

Doros

PS

please give me a shipping cost to CYPRUS.

What you like to do ?
The 8 Input Card into first Mec ?
In this case you don't need a second mec.
If you like to take a two card system to record, you need a 2nd mec.

I have ribbons for connecting 2 EDS with each other too.

I will check the shipping coast to cyprus

Best regards
Dan

You don't necessarily need a second MEC, you can run a two card system with a single MEC - if you just have one, the audio from both EDS cards is pre-mixed and flows through it.

Getting a second MEC is really about getting more inputs and outputs (MECs are limited to 20 active channels of i/o at a time - the built in i/o plus two active cards (say an ADAT card and an 8i, or any other combination). You can have eight cards in one MEC, but only two can be active at one time.

Dan,

Are you selling off you whole PARIS rig?

If yes, what are you jumping to?

@Will

not the whole Paris Stuff, but i have buyed a lot of Stuff in the past. Some Stuff i have lease to friend and get it back now.

I have "jumped" to Universal Audio Apollo now.

So my Setup today is :

Apollo Quad

1x Paris MEC /2 Adat/ 8 input / 8 output

RME 9652

RME 9632

Universal Audio UAD2 Quad

UA Twin Finity 4710d

UA Compressor 1176ae

to go into DAW. With Paris i have 32 I/O. Thats enough, i have decided !

In the Past were 16 I/O Adats in my DAW blocked by E6400 Sampler. I will rout them over RME 5652 into my System.

I have used two 4710d going into second MEC.

The Third MEC was fillend by other Romplers (Proteus 1000 & 2x2000, An1x,X3,ChaosPad)and so on.

Apollo is real good. The special is, you can use your plugins in realtime !

Have a nice Weekend everyone.

@Kerry

THX to Kerry...for "You don't necessarily need a second MEC, you can run a two card system with a single MEC - if you just have one, the audio from both EDS cards is pre-mixed and flows through it. ", thats exactly what i like to say !

Have a nice Weekend too !

Hi there,

is there any chance you're still selling paris gear stuff ?
I am looking for a MEC with at least 8i/8out

Other wise a second 442 but I'm sure we could link them..?

Best regards,
