Heh, I find this amusing, and thought I'd share it with the group. This is a link to a band I'm currently drumming for (I'm not a drummer) - Forty Minutes of Hell. It's a pretty rowdy group, but all in fun, and when I started mixing it I goofed off with pushing the output of an EDS comp on the L/R buss. It is a bit sloppy, rude, and I'm sure there are slight clips here and there..... but it works for the band - and it's really freaking LOUD. Makes me laugh. So - don't play it for your kids, but some of you might appreciate it. The band's video on their myspace page is.... amusing too. :) ! ? And, if anyone's going down for sxsw, we'll be down around there then.
