Hi,

OK so I searched and found that there is a DVD out there that could help a Dude like my find some help with Pasris. I have paste a reponse giving permission to share. Does anyone have a copy to share with a guy who is a visual learner. The book stuff just doesn't come easy :-)

This is from Allen I think:

"I appreciate the concern for my efforts and art. Truly, I do. Gives me the fuzzies :)

However, any way you cut it Chuck left the reins in my hands and I'm not making/selling them... so, basically I was just saying although I don't have any to sell I really don't care either way to be honest. Hook the dude up, anyone.
That's the official word.

That DVD was a lot of work, but it was a love labor on my part and frankly all I cared about was to cover my expenses, help fund the Skunkworks effort and the side bonus was the ultra cool hang time with BT. Brian wouldn't take a dime, and his gift was his time/knowledge in case anyone didn't know. He is truly a great dude. After all this time I just couldn't see charging for a dead platform how to video that was years old to boot. I don't see a new one being made at this point, so there is nothing to update. Maybe someday "soon" will come, but I'm not holding my breath.

Copy on with my blessings, Paris users. I saw this day coming, that's why I didn't protect it.

AA"
