I have a 2.6 AMD processor. But only 1 gig of ram. When I ad a second EDS1000, should I up the ram to 2, maybe even 4 gigs? I am out of PCI slots with my two EDSs and a video card. Since my internal sound card is kind of lame and I am out of slots; I was thinking about getting a new motherboard/processor with more slots, a better sound card for the wav lab stuff. Maybe I will finally get inspired enough to make the switch up to XP or will Paris work in Windows 7?
