Hey Nappy, my colleagues around town tell me that they are in love (again) with Logic.. And that, it's new workflow, editing, and even sound is much improved.

Some are having driver issues (M-Audio). Take a look on www.gearslutz.com they have forum thread just for Logic 8..

for the most part i'd say it's an improvement over the previous version and will be better once the bugs (which vary on different macs) are sorted out and fixed.

Improved workflow, upgraded plugins, (5.1 capable mostly, but also added refinements) swipe comping (u can import a bunch of takes from Paris, "pack" them into a comp folder to do the reductive-comp-creation thingy) better GUI, lots of samples & instruments, heck their amp sim is not too bad at all (compared with Guitar Rig 2, which is supposed to be top of the heap)

And- a fantastic price.

My 2 cents CDN (which is currently more than your 2 cents US)

Ted

I know a lot of folks who use Logic, and I am happy for them that they get to work on an improved program. I was not really in love with it when I had to use it.
