Hi all,

hoping someone can help me locate both the original PARIS Instructional Video and the Brian Tankersley Tutorial.

Found an old post bout the BT DVD but the dropbox link is no longer working.

Dan,
Argh, I wish you would have told me, I would have just thrown a copy in the box for you. I have very limited net where I'm at but I will attempt to upload a copy if I can.

I have a cd of Brians' video, actually I just watched it a day ago. I know on the video he talks about paying for it but since it is not available any more and I do not believe there is any way to reimburse the boys I think it would be alright to get a fellow Paris user the great information that is on the video. How to get one to you I am not sure how to do that. Too bad I couldn't just upload it somewhere, but I don't have a clue how to do that. Let me know. Rich

Hi Richard,

Easiest way I know of to upload files is using a website ge.tt
Is free for files up to 2Gig and is fairly simple to make an account then drag and drop file to be shared.

I am happy to pay Brian if anyone knows how to get in touch.

Will, as much as I am a relative new comer here on the news group, you might be surprised by how much Paris stuff I have. I inherited it all from my brother Kim who used to run the news group years ago on a computer I gave him. I actually set up the hiddensounds mail server. Unfortunately that computer has been lost and with it all the old news group posts. I have some of the old posts which Kim saved on the Paris machine but there isn't much.

Can't find the original video or the BT video which I know he used to have but a lot of stuff, not just Paris related, was lost during some troubled years.

Tried uploading files, video is wayyyyyyyyyyyyy bigger than free account allows. Any other ideas how to get copy. I would be willing to make a copy and mail it to you if you want to send me a prepaid postage cd envelope.

I dragged two files of the dvd, they would be the different chapters on the dvd. After two of them it said to upload any more files you must upgrade to premium, ala they want money.

I have 250 GB Space onto my Internet Space, if someone upload it, we can share it there for a short time. I have to make an account for only one week.

Is this a way for you ?

Account and Data only per PN please !

Hi Richard,

Thanks for the fast attempt. Didn't realize it was going to be that big.

Could you try using <https://mega.co.nz/>

They have a 50G free cloud.

If that doesn't work can either send you some money to mail a copy or could try taking up Daniels offer.

Such an amazing helpful group of ppl here

Does anyone know how to get in touch with BT these days? Would like to find out if he wants any money for the video.

Dean

I thought it was cleared to give the video away in the past, but someone should double check with Aaron and BT. I think the best thing would be if someone could convert the mpeg2 video to mpeg4, H.264 and post it on youtube. What ever you do don't convert it to Flash video, Adobe has decided to leave older computers in the dust. Flash would mean some of you guys with older computers would not be able to watch it on youtube. I just love how companies with software that is considered a "ubiquitous standard" get to decide when my computer is to be obsolete.

Someone knows the contactdata from Aron or BT, i like to ask for share there Video with my sever. I would lay it down there for all Paris user. If it possible, we can use the Paris wiki to set an hyperlink to the space, where the big file is located.

Greetings !!!

Dan

Hi Folks-

I have copies of the Brian Tankersley video. We received approval in a variety of forms (years ago) to re-distribute the DVD to this who wanted it. I copied and mailed out dozens a few years back.

This past summer, I had a personal request for another one from a user in Europe, which I complied with. If you want one, let me know and I'll send it out to you.

Best

Ted

Hi, all.
Mediafire.com allow 10gb for free.
I'd be interested in a copy of the dvd as well.
Cheers,
Kim.

Hi Folks!

It's MY here, I'm new to the forum but an OLD Paris owner from Canada (would even say I was one fo the first to get Paris when it came out and Paris Users here in Canada).

Really happy I've found this forum and thanks to Kerry for creating it. I've been reading great stuff on the net especially that PARIS has been brought up to gearslutz and people talking about it's sound and so forth.

Well, all that being said, very happy to have registered and looking forward to chat with you folks and great thanks in advance to @MikeAudet for his amazing work.

Finally, I'd love to put my hands on the Paris video as well, any link already shared??

Thanks in advance folks

Best
