I believe there are a couple kinds. Its been awhile but as I recall, one is just for buying. The other includes selling as well - business account which requires bank account verification. They are both free, except you pay a commission when you sell.

What do you mean "which one"? Paypal is paypal far as I know. There's no "which one?". Unless I'm missing something...

Get the PERSONAL account and in your eaby posts say PAYPAL ONLY, NO CREDIT CARDS.

If you get any other account they ding you a percent of your asking fee.
People with credit cards can get their own paypal account and pay the percent and then transfer the correct amount to you.

They do have a limit though, I believe $500. With the Premiere or Business accts, they are able to use CCs, a big issue for some, and don't have to have a Paypal account. You can add the ding to the sales price.

Your Monthly Receiving Limit is: $500.00 USD
That sucks!

Not with Premier - that's why I recommend it for anyone whose selling more than the kids winter clothes on ebay. I'm not afraid of CCs... nice to be able to take Discover, Amex, Visa, MC, eCheck, etc as debit or credit.

Yeah good point. I didn't realize the personal account was so close to worthless. Looks like Paypal has monopoly on this. Is there an alternative way to sell something for a price and not get dinged short of having them mail a check and waiting till it clears?

Thanks,
John

Postal Money Order($1.25 per K). Cashier's check. I don't know of any "instant pay" way w/o a ding - for over $500. amounts.
