Subject: circumventing paris 3 response code Posted by harry e on Sat, 24 May 2014 09:01:56 GMT

anyone know how to circumvent the paris 3 response code? it has always angered me, that i paid $300.00 for the paris 3 software, and i'm not allowed to install or reinstall it at will, on any machine i like, without having to go through the response code stuff (i want to use stronger language than that, but i won't). and now, with id not responding anymore to requests for response codes, after this year, it angers me even more--- does anyone know how to get around this? i've heard of something called anti-pace, but know nothing about it, nor how to implement it. if anyone can enlighten me on how to circumvent the response code (if there is any such ability), i'd very much appreciate any help and information about it. i'm wanting to run paris on both xp 32 bit and 98se thanks so much. harry