I subscribed to the Stewart Macdonald (StewMac) newsletter recently. They are a guitar parts and repair tools dealer. The newsletter goes over repair/setup tricks, and I have learned a lot about guitars from reading it. I wouldn't try most of the stuff they show, like how to make frets fit properly on a fret job, but I always learn something interesting about guitars. For instance I never knew fret wire has little barbs in the part that goes into the finger board that hold it in place.

<http://www.stewmac.com/> in the upper left there is a spot to enter your email to receive the newsletter.
