I tried www.myparispro.com today and it was password protected.

any reason for this?

Craigi mailed the wavelab cleansed ones on monday. i started to experiment with some other methods yesterday but shut down due to electrical storms.

'Fraid I can't help with the skins (although it rings a bell - I'm fairly sure at least one person was working with a differently skinner Paris).

Unfortunately I also missed the letter to ID (having also been away for a while). Reckon it's worth us sending a belated update with our names (that way we might passed the magic 100 barrier)...? Was there any response?

Cheers,
Dan

End user error IMO, but they may not want the hassles/liability of sloppy end user assembly.
