Many will recall that on July 8, 1947, witnesses claimed that an unidentified object with five aliens aboard crashed onto a sheep ranch just outside Roswell, New Mexico.

This is a well-known incident that many say has long been covered up by the U.S. Air Force and the federal government.

However, you may NOT know that in the month of March 1948, exactly nine months after that historic day, Albert Arnold Gore, Jr., Hillary Rodham, John F. Kerry, William Jefferson Clinton, Ted Kennedy, Howard Dean, Nancy Pelosi, Dianne Feinstein, Charles E. Schumer, and Barbara Boxer were born.

Hmmmm.....what a great piece of information.

Seriously, Ted K. isn't 15 yrs older than the rest of them?

Ouch.

Have you noticed how Kennedy sort of broadens his "A's" when he speaks....instead of Boston he pronounces it Baaaaaaston?
Now we know why. Now, in the spirit of bipartisanship, I'm going to go see if I can commune with a trout.

I lost it on a snowmobile going about 60mph on Lake St. Claire in Feb 1980.
I must have bounced and skidded for half a mile. Luckily the snowmobile went one way and I went another. Thank god for snowmobile suits.

I started my drinking career in St. Louis, that would be AB country. $2.00 for a six pack of Bush. Ten bucks could get you and a friend annihilated.

It's funny you mention it, I actually grow up in St. Claire S., but I was never much for Strohs beer, but I like their Ice cream.

It's funny how life changes and things that were once important to you are not so important anymore. I rarely drink now days. I know, that's my problem, right?

i'll toast to your sobriety in a few hours...it's the weekend and the 5 day drought is over.

i agree about the beer thing. actually i think we use to refer to strohs as fire brewed piss water. when i did beer it was usually of the neighbor to the north variety.

Heh. Why am I not surprised that Frank Luntz is involved?

http://urbanlegends.about.com/library/bl_roswell_democrats.htm

Anyway, bdays listed there:

Hillary Clinton: October 26, 1947

John Kerry: December 11, 1943

Bill Clinton - August 19, 1946

Howard Dean - November 17, 1948

Nancy Pelosi - March 26, 1940

Dianne Feinstein - June 22, 1933

Charles Schumer - November 23, 1950

Barbara Boxer - November 11, 1940

So clearly since this bunch doesn't qualify, there must be OTHER aliens wandering around, perhaps in positions of power...

Cheers,

-Jamie

Whoever created any group that can "accept without much questioning" is probably an insecure moron or clever dictator wannabe.

They say Democrats are tougher to herd. Probably a good thing.

Independents can't even be rounded up. More pesky questioning than you can shake a dittohead at.

Maybe that's why Rove likes to keep public appearances of his guy closed to the actual public.

I hear you. Unquestioning following is a problem. We've been over the cliff with both major parties.

Most recently with the abdication of oversight responsibilities by the last congress, Republican controlled in that case.

Did you know the biggest "party" in Colorado, based on voter registration, is independents?

Good sign.

I'm not talking about unquestioned anything. I'm talking about common sense.

Many liberal Democrats:

1. believe we are not in a war.....or
2. believe we are in a war we can't win.....and/or
3. believe that it's OK to divulge war strategy to our enemies in the name of freedom of speech.....and/or
4. don't realize that if we lose this war, their freedom of speech and basically every other liberal cause that is dear to them will be toast and they will be the first to be slaughtered by those that they currently unwittingly (or willingly, for political purposes) aid and abet.

More and more weasel'esque Republicans are starting to echo this in order to save their political arsses. The bottom line is that to win a fight, you need to be unified and you need to go to any lengths to get it over with quickly. This current situation in Iraq would have never happened if Clinton hadn't lived by the polls and not let an existing war drag on for 10 years and it's highly likely, IMHO, that things would be very different today if, subsequent to the disclosure of the perfidious behaviour of our "allies" that this country had united even further and realized that the threat we face is not just from the Islamic fundamentalists, but from the gutless behaviour of their own socialist/liberal role models worldwide. Our enemies, having been presented with with a historic precedent, have been encouraged to fight on because history has proven to them (and in doing so, Bin Ladin has been validated) that all they need to do is to hang on until we lose our will to fight and therefore defeat ourselves.

.....thus, the lemming analogy.

Heh, gotcha. You're talking about them thar UNPATRIOTIC fools who won't give up their personal liberties to fall lock step behind the, er, head fool, eh? :^)

I dunno, that sort of blatant spin isn't working as well these days. We're down to around 25% or so who think Bush, Cheney and Rumsfield are geniuses, or are at least taking enough of Scaife's money to say so.

For anyone in that boat, I recommend constant listening to talk radio windbags and cable blather so you can be reinforced in the comforting ability to blame everyone else for the problems. Especially anyone who values civil liberties or social responsibility, or who think there might be human beings who are Islamic. Commies! Liberals! Freaks!

In the Scaife bunch, the buck stops with anyone who disagrees with the neocon con job. The rare time the buck stops with the Whitehouse is usually in a sentence that includes the word "Clinton." Very convenient but inadequate.

Sure there are a few facts in there to spice things up, but overall that telling of the story is as full of fantasy as any joke with Democrats and flying saucers.

It's our right as Americans to have those misguided notions. Meanwhile I'll feel free to disagree with both the current administration where they fail to think things through, and with anyone who thinks I don't have the right to see that they are, by and large, leading my country down the wrong path and over a cliff.

Not to defend the Democrats or anything because there is plenty of blame to go around with administrations in both parties back at least to the early part of the century. But especially with the administration we have now.

BTW, here's some provocative free speech that may annoy you, although a few entries might amuse you. Remember, it's probably a joke:

Tell me again how Clinton is responsible for the war in Iraq.

here are a few extenuating circumstances.

200 years of tribal warring.

Sykes-Picot Agreement.

The British Land Settlement Act.

Rashid Ali al-Kaylani prime minister of Iraq who was collaborating with the German Nazis (check the history of the Harriman Bank and you will find an interesting link between Prescott Bush and Rashid Ali al-Kaylani.)

Joining the Arab League.

The Baghdad Pact in 1956 with the USA.

The Iraq Petroleum Company (a British company) taking 90% of the oil profits from the Iraq people.

In 1979 Saddam took control.. That did make us happy since we were mad at Iran and Saddam hated Iran.

Mass chemical weapons attack on the city of Halabja in March 1988, followed in trade credits to Iraq ten days after condemning the massacre. The vast majority of UK trade credits were used to purchase more arms.

1970s, Iraq purchased a French nuclear reactor. The US grumbled a little but major US players were entrenched in the Iraq nuclear deal. The French owned firm Areva NP acquired most of its technology and patents from Babcock and Wilcox's, Westinghouse and GE (All US firms).

"Desert Storm" followed by a US trade embargo, including no food or medicine.

The first and second Bush administration!!

Good to see some historical facts about where the real problems in Iraq are coming from.
But how can anyone learn anything about these facts when most of us don't know anything about them at all?

world". We're all being manipulated to have big dollars in our eyes in "the name of freedom", what ever it costs for "our free world". Great weaponmuscles have nothing to do with great intelligence and used in "the name of God", as far as I can understand with my "stupid" head, far away from America....

But almost all of these things took place within Bill Clinton's lifetime, right? Can you prove that he wasn't somehow pulling strings all along? From down there in Hope, Arkansas?

Well....I've read both your posts and I don't really disagree with either one of you in principle. However, I don't see any refutation at all or addressing my of my points. Indecisiveness and division in time of war is a disaster and, IMHO, is the reason this has dragged on for so long. It's more like you don't believe the points are valid and this goes to the heart of what I've been talking about all along. I guess we'll see. I hope I'm wrong actually. I have no dog in the *being right(fight. I do have a big dog in the fight that may come down to the disintegration of this nation and I know I'm not going to change your mind about that nor you mine. As far as Gene's historical analysis is concerned, I'm aware of the history and don't dispute this at all, or the many many mistakes. I think that indecisiveness/divisiveness at such a critical time is yet another a huge mistake and sends the same as it ever was message. It may be too late now though.

Fair enough. Blame is all well and good, but in the end we need to come out of this together and OK.

How we do that is a matter of some disagreement. There's no magical way to make the uncertainty go away, to remove the divisiveness we've come to as a nation, other than for people to vote for the representatives they feel will do the right thing, and to make their opinions known to their representatives. That's our system.

In the last election, the electorate made it pretty clear that the leadership has gone down the wrong path and it's time to rethink our goals, priorities, strategies and implementations.

Having the conversations to figure out how do so is the patriotic way, by our standards. To avoid those conversations in some fake show of unity would be foolish. And to live by anyone else's standards would be a betrayal of the sacrifices that helped make us who we are.

Democracy is noisy. Our dirty laundry will get aired and we will move on.

Cheers,
-Jamie
