Strange.....I know ya'll think I'm nuts anyway so I can be honest here.
Back in 1966 I was driving home from a gig with our drummer about 1AM on Loop 820 in Ft. Worth Tx. We both saw something sorta like this except the tail wasn't nearly as long and it was moving at incredible speed and changing directions instantaneously. It was right over Carswell AFB and a few minutes after whatever this was started dancing across the sky, you could see a couple of jets scrambling, at which time the *thing* just sorta' went *poof* and was gone.

I saw something else *incredibly* strange day before yesterday. I was out in a very isolated wilderness area bordering an Indian reservation up in the mountains. I had parked my car and walked about a mile off the main road. I know the guy who owns this property and was scouting a location for a road through there to reach an area where some gas wells are going to be drilled next year. It was a beautiful fall day with the sagebrush blooming, aspens, cottonwoods, elms and oaks are starting to turn and there had been a downpour the night before. Everything is green and a thousand other colors. Lots of birds, deer, badgers, prairie dogs flying and scurrying around getting ready for winter. I was sorta walking along looking at the mountains around me and I noticed that the normal bird sound had stopped and so I started scanning the area around me. this can be a sign of bears or cougars and I wasn't packin'. About 100' to my left was a fenced area overgrown with vegetation and I walked over to it. It was the family cemetery. It was about 100' x 100' and there were about 20 old grave plots in there. I started checking the names and dates because I am going to need to prepare an affidavit of heirship of this family in order to determine who will sign the paperwork for this roadway and who will get paid. The owner already told me that the land has been in the family since the early 1900's and was patented to his great grandfather. None of his relatives ever left wills so I'm gonna have to unravel this family tree. As I started noting the names and dates of birth/death I was walking along a row of graves and there were three graves of brothers (I think) that had birth dates in the 1880's and they each died between 1945 and 1947. I noted their names and moved on down the line and all of a sudden I got an absolutely wierd feeling and the hair on the back of my neck started to tingle. I turned around and it looked at these graves again. I could figure out what it was about them that was different. Then it struck me. all of the other graves in this cemetery were overgrown. The dirt on top of these three graves was relatively fresh and it was obvious where the rain the night before had turned some of the dirt or mud which had sorta molded to the contour of the crown of the grave but none of these three graves had anything at all growing on the graves. How does that happen when these guys have been dead since the 1940's and every other grave out there is overgrown?

Very strange.

Do you suppose there was a fresh burial in an old grave, or someone stealing skeletal parts? Might want to report that one to the county sheriff.

I'm going to be meeting the owner of the property onsite next week. I'm going to ask him about this. The headstones of these graves are very old and discolored by time and weather. I'll tell you something though, this guy is in his 80's, shoes horses for a living and looks about my age. I know one of his cousins who is in his 90's, still slings 70 lb bales of hay from the ground to the bed of a flatbed trailer with one arm and looks like he's in his 50's. He just married a 50 something Phillipino woman. The Martinez/De La Madrid folks have some mighty impressive genetics. I wonder if some of them might have long pointy canines.
